

'Pointing the Bone' Hex Defeated

ALICE SPRINGS, Australia (UPI)—White man's medicine finally has triumphed over black magic in the desolate northern territory of Australia, a physician said yesterday.

Dr. G. H. Tippet, a government medical officer, said he "cured" an aborigine who was about to die because an enemy hexed him by "pointing the bone" at him.

This is a common ritual among the nomadic stone-age tribes. No one knows how or why it works. A witch doctor points a bone—usually a kangaroo bone—at a victim and mumbles a curse. The victim dies. Autopsies never disclose cause of death.

Physicians know the curse works. The victim believes the bone is passing through his body and reaches his heart to kill him. He lies down and dies, psychologically killing himself. Yet cases have been known where a native has died while a bone curse was being made against him unknowingly hundreds of miles away.

Tippet said he found a native at a bush settlement who was dying of the hex. The doctor told the native

he could cure him by surgically removing the bone. The native agreed.

Tippet said he simply chloroformed the native, but did nothing else. When the aborigine recovered consciousness, Tippet showed him a wet stone and said the bone had turned to rock and he had removed it.

Queen Fit and On Job

Royal Pen Stolen

NANAIMO — A souvenir hunter has stolen the pen with which Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip signed a special municipal guest book at Nanaimo's Grandview Bowl on July 16.

Alderman Haig Burns, in charge of royal tour arrangements at Nanaimo, said the guest book is intact but the pen with which the royal couple signed is missing.

EDMONTON (CP)—Queen Elizabeth resumed her full royal visit schedule Tuesday, appearing fit, healthy and relaxed.

Her physician said she was fully recovered from an upset stomach that had cancelled out two days of her program in the north.

Canadian reporters who saw the Queen and her husband begin the 45-day, cross-country tour in Newfoundland June 18, said she looked as well Tuesday as she did when she first arrived.

NO DEPARTURES

Edmond Butler, the Queen's press secretary, said no further departures from the scheduled program are anticipated.

The full five-hour schedule in Edmonton was carried out as planned before mid-afternoon departure by train for a whistle-stopping swing by train through Saskatchewan.

Mr. Butler denied reports in the British press that Prince Philip had advised his wife to cancel the Canadian tour and return home.

"The duke would not let her

Lines Tangled By Falling Tree

NELSON (CP)—Two stores caught fire and one burned to the ground here as power surged wildly up the Slokan Valley on telephone lines.

No Contempt Court Finds

VANCOUVER (CP)—Contempt of court proceedings against the British Columbia Federation of Labor (CLC) and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) were dismissed Tuesday by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

Dealers Import Lumber

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lower mainland dealers are meeting the threat to supplies created by the strike of coast woodworkers by importing lumber from the United States and the interior of British Columbia.

They are paying $10 a thousand feet more for it than they would for coast timber because of freight costs.

STOCKS GONE

Dealers here say the stocks that were on hand when 27,000 members of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) went on strike three weeks ago were rapidly used up.

NO END SEEN

Meanwhile, no end is in sight of the strike which was called to back up demands for wage increases. It is reported the union reduced its demands to 12 per cent over a base rate of $1.72 an hour. The employers have offered 12 cents an hour.

An injunction obtained Monday by Canadian Forest Products restricts pickets at its plant here to three.

Deas Tunnel In Darkness

VANCOUVER (CP)—A section of the $23,000,000 Deas Island Tunnel was plunged into darkness Tuesday night when the carriage of a dump truck hit the ceiling.

The tunnel, under the south arm of the Fraser River, was blocked off to northbound traffic for about 16 minutes while electricians repaired the lights.

Nikita Skips Spit in Face

WARSAW (UPI)—Nikita Khrushchev said last night he postponed his trip to Scandinavia because it would have "increased tension" and he only wants to go where "it is helpful."

"I may go there later," the Soviet premier said during a reception at the Soviet Embassy. "I think well of the Swedes." But he denounced "the government newspaper" in Stockholm.

"If they spit in my face, a guest, why should I go?" Khrushchev said.

West Threatens To Walk Out

GENEVA (AP)—The Western foreign ministers threatened Tuesday for the second successive day to walk out of the Big Four talks unless Russia quickly reduces its terms for a Berlin truce. But Andrei A. Gromyko refused to budge.

Gromyko's exchanges with the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France at a 2½-hour secret session were sometimes bitter and angry.

The head-on clash left the Big Four conference in a state of almost unrelieved gloom and crisis.

U.S., British, French and Soviet delegation spokesmen all agreed that no progress had been made and that a breaking-point could come next week.

But some gleams of hope remained. Ever-cautious U.S. and British officials expressed the view that Gromyko, on the orders of Premier Nikita Khrushchev, may yet cut his price for a Berlin deal.

The issue, for the third conference session in a row, centred on Gromyko's demand for bringing the two Germanys face to face to help chart a way toward reunification and a peace settlement.

The Western powers have rejected this and put forward their compromise. This would make the Big Four a continuing conference to negotiate on a German settlement. East and West Germany would sit in as advisers.

Fishing Offer Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—New offers will be made to workers in the fishing industry today in the hope of averting a complete shutdown of British Columbia's second biggest money-earner by strike action.

James Sinclair, president of the Fisheries Association of B.C., said a meeting has been arranged with representatives of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union for 2 p.m.

The union has threatened to call a strike Saturday to back up demands for higher prices for fishermen and higher wages for shore workers.

Mr. Sinclair said new offers on wages and prices will be made to shoreworkers, tendermen and fishermen.

Army Brigade Rebels Against Iraq Regime

The brigade was reported to be refusing orders from the Iraqi high command two days after the government announced in Baghdad that the situation was under control. Meanwhile, foreign delegations in Baghdad for anniversary celebrations of the country's revolution were trying to leave the capital as soon as possible because of rumors of impending Communist violence there, it was reported.

The Egyptian government-sponsored Middle East News Agency said armed bands of Communists were roaming Baghdad districts at night and attacking citizens.

The Egyptian press described the situation in Iraq as "grave" and said the revolt is part of a Communist plot to spread chaos throughout the country.

Violence in the northern oil town of Kirkuk flared a week ago as Iraq marked the first anniversary of the anti-monarchist revolution which installed Gen. Abdul Karim Kassem as premier.

The death toll has been estimated by various sources at anywhere from 20 to 1,000 persons. An official communiqué from the Kassem regime said only that there had been "many deaths."

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

MONTREAL—The roar and clank of construction can be heard downtown in Canada's biggest city. The new Queen Elizabeth Hotel (booked solid for months) bulks to the sky.

Yet just around the corner from the massive towers of commerce and the headquarters of nationwide corporations, are numberless small crotchety stores and restaurants tucked away in basements or up flights of steps—many of them supplying goods and services of high quality.

A short distance from a main traffic artery you can find a couple of old men gossiping on the steps of a dingy-looking brick building, surrounded by waist-high weeds.

There are leafy squares in the heart of the town. Montreal has a good-humored elegance which I have not detected in any other Canadian city. It is big enough and old enough that it does not have to worry about appearances. Montreal people need not stride along in grim-faced hordes, elbowing their fellow-citizens out of the way, in order to convince themselves how busy and important they are.

Montreal's traffic is far from peaceful. The city contains some of the craziest drivers who ever stamped on a gas pedal. Pedestrians love to cross against red lights. But they do these things with a loose-jointed abandon, which takes some of the sting out of their recklessness. Many of them seem to be having fun.

If you scan an average street crowd in Toronto, by contrast, you wouldn't say that many of them were having fun. They appear tense and irritable. Vancouver people also tend to hurry back and forth with glum faces.

It's typical of Montreal that the town doesn't level its crotchety stores and restaurants wholesale to make room for bigger buildings. Montreal lives happily with its past. It is a city that invites its parents and grandparents to live in the house.

Vancouver, and even Victoria, (for all Victoria's prating about its history) don't really care for the past. Their past is brief, and whatever relics of it may remain are self-consciously praised or destroyed with contempt—sometimes both.

Instead of inviting their ancestors to live in the house, figuratively speaking, those western cities throw them out in the street.

Don't imagine, however, that Montreal is a fusty old town. Far from it. I'd say at a snap glance that Montreal girls were the prettiest, best-dressed and most lively in Canada. No other city's women even run them close.

And if you're one of the people who measure a city's importance by the number of its night clubs, slums, criminals and drug addicts—a childish standard of reference—Montreal does all right in those departments too. But the town doesn't beat its chest about the fact. Montreal is a grown-up city, not a large village trying to prove it is big enough to wear long pants.

Back to Whistlestops Today

Queen Eats Heartily At Alberta Luncheon

EDMONTON (CP) — The Queen ate heartily Tuesday at a luncheon on the grounds of the Alberta legislature. She was offered a fruit plate—a half cantaloupe filled with diced fruit—but chose instead a meat plate of cold turkey and ham, garnished with salad and asparagus. Her luncheon was identical to that of 1,850 guests invited by the provincial government to the buffet style meal on the close-cropped lawns of the legislature.

Today the Queen returns to the kind of touring she really likes—whistle stops.

She obviously prefers small gatherings on station platforms in little communities to the formal receptions in Canada's big cities.

She is at her best at the little places and, like Prince Philip, makes a greater attempt to chat with as many persons as possible.

One trouble with whistle-stopping is that the Queen doesn't get much time to relax between stops when there are a lot of them on the schedule.

This will be more of a worry to officials now in view of the Queen's illness at Whitehorse, Y.T.

'Capone' Guns Gone

LONDON (UPI) — The manager of a movie theatre showing the film "Al Capone" set up an exhibition of gangster weapons to provide some atmosphere. Yesterday morning four machine guns were missing and presumed stolen.

British News Reports Disturb Diefenbaker

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker is disturbed by the tone of reports in British newspapers about the Queen's sudden, brief illness in the course of her tour of Canada.

He left no doubt of this in talking to reporters here Tuesday about stories in some British papers to the effect that although the Queen was seriously ill, Mr. Diefenbaker was insisting she go through to the end.

A couple of the British papers, claimed the prime minister was taking this view for one political reason or another.

Mr. Diefenbaker described these reports as without any foundation whatever.

He is understood to be disturbed especially about the possible effect on Canada's reputation in Britain by these apparently unfounded, or at least exaggerated, stories.

He pointed out to reporters that every detail of the tour Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip are making was worked out and agreed upon with Buckingham Palace.

The Queen herself had a final say in the itinerary being followed.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he knew beforehand of the royal couple's change of plans, to return home by air.

Was Vincent Incompetent?

Rich Astors Fight For $200,000,000

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y.—John Jacob Astor III, 47, stepped up his fight Tuesday to break the will of half-brother Vincent Astor with a charge that Vincent was "mentally deficient" when he wrote the will and was incompetent before he was 19 years old.

Vincent, who died Feb. 3 at the age of 67, left a fortune of between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000, but not a cent of it to his portly younger half-brother.

John Jacob claims the will resulted from "improper conduct and undue influence of Brooke Russell Astor, his widow, Luke Lockwood, his attorney, who authorized the will signature, and others."

WASHINGTON — Court-appointed monitors said yesterday they probably will petition within two or three months for the removal of Teamsters' president James Hoffa.

CHICAGO — John Foster Dulles' personal papers, containing details of his association with President Eisenhower, have been given to the Eisenhower library at Abilene, Kan.

NEW YORK — Blues singer Billie Holiday was buried yesterday in her favorite pink lace stage gown, pink gloves and a halo of gardenias as an overflow crowd of 3,000 mourners, whites and Negroes, attended a requiem high mass.

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has nominated Undersecretary Frederick Mueller, 63, to succeed Lewis Strauss as secretary of commerce.

LONDON — Eddie Fisher and Elizabeth Taylor have moved from a luxury farmhouse in Surrey to a suite in the Dorchester Hotel, the Harlequin suite in which each has stayed before—Miss Taylor with third husband Mike Todd and Fisher with first wife Debbie Reynolds, both in June, 1957.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Harvard law professor Harold Berman will return to Moscow next month in efforts to force Soviet publishers to pay royalties on works of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Representative of Adrian Conan Doyle, son of the creator of Sherlock Holmes, he estimates Russian publishers owe $500,000 in royalties to Doyle's estate.

Peacetime G.I. Loans Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted Tuesday to extend wartime GI benefits to peacetime servicemen despite charges that the plan would "put a dollar mark on patriotism."

The measure, which would cost an estimated $1,800,000,000 by its 1967 expiration date, was approved 57-31. It now goes to the House and an uncertain fate.

The bill would authorize educational benefits, vocational training and a program of loans for the purchase of homes, farms and farm equipment for veterans of 180 days of peacetime duty between Jan. 31, 1955 and July 1, 1963.

Sen. John McClellan said Congress first should vote pensions for First World War veterans, "many of whom are old and disabled and whose earning powers are no longer sufficient to sustain them."

Nine-Foot Bonus in Salmon Net

Salmon net in the Fraser River brought in a giant bonus for Gerald Miller, 19, (centre, dark shirt) — a 380-pound sturgeon that stretches nine feet, eight inches. It may have endangered the nets but, after all, it is worth 25 cents a pound.

U.S. Controversy

Soldiers Sitters, Washers, Cooks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An ex-sergeant told U.S. Congressional investigators Tuesday that he and two buddies did such chores as baby-sitting, washing lingerie and "other details that most men just don't do" while assigned to an army general.

Joseph Bagwell of Washington made the charges in reply to defence department denials that enlisted men are used as servants to military officers. He said he "worked more for the general's wife than for him. I think I contributed very little to the military effort."

OFFICER LAUGHS

Bagwell said he spent most of 1957 working with two other enlisted men at the home of Maj. Gen. James Pierce at Fort Meade, Md. Pierce, now retired, last night laughed at the charges, calling them "a lot of publicity."

Bagwell said: "Our duties at the general's house ranged from washing dishes, cooking, answering telephones, baby-sitting for the daughter's children who didn't even live in the same house, cleaning up after the dog, feeding the dog..."

WORST JOB

He said one of his buddies got one of the worst jobs — "cleaning lingerie and various other details that most men just don't do."

Bagwell said he had little contact with the general except for serving him breakfast and dinner "and getting his golf balls and stuff packed."

Exam Stolen, Nine Charged

WINNIPEG (CP) — Eight Winnipeg high school students will appear in juvenile court soon in connection with theft of an examination paper before the June departmental examinations, city detectives said yesterday.

Another juvenile, a non-student, is charged with theft of the Grade 12 chemistry paper from a Winnipeg printing company. He and two of the students were arrested over the weekend, but were later released.

The 16-year-old delivery boy was in the printing firm's premises the first week in May. He apparently found a misplaced paper and stole it. Recognizing it as a June examination paper he gave it to two students at Gordon Bell High School. They gave the questions to approximately six other students, police said, although it was common knowledge to other students that the questions were available.

The Manitoba education department began an investigation following reports of irregularities in the writing of the exam. The department compared the previous examination achievements of all students to their standing in the June test and passed the information on to detectives.

After investigation, the police settled on eight students. They said others may have been involved. Highest mark made among the eight was 85 per cent recorded by a student who failed the subject at Christmas.

The department has said all students involved will write the exam again.

Police said that at no time was money paid for use of the stolen questions.

Little Rock Tries Again, Five Negroes Sign Up

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Five Negroes — one a girl on crutches — were registered Tuesday in the first test at student level to re-open Little Rock public schools to limited integration.

Four of them were among the nine Negro pupils whose integration into Central High School in the fall of 1957 brought mob violence and finally federal troops to restore order.

None of the four came themselves. They were represented by their parents.

The first day of registration — it runs all week — moved along slowly and quietly. Students came and went under the stern eye of police.

The first 20 white students to register at Central High School were greeted by principal Jess Matthews, who told them:

"I'm glad to see you. It's good to have some customers again."

UNCONSTITUTIONAL

The four public high schools were closed throughout the last school year by Governor Orval Faubus in his fight against integration. The law he used to close them only recently was declared unconstitutional by a federal court and a new school board moved to re-open the schools this coming fall.

Police patrolled streets for several blocks around the schools. They had orders from their chief, Gene Smith, to arrest and jail any disturbers. Smith himself ordered reporters off school grounds, saying the school board didn't want them there. Reporters were given a trip through the registration centres later.

Floods Kill 139

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (AP) — The premier of Kashmir said Tuesday 139 persons have lost their lives in floods in the Indian part of the Himalayan state. Floods also killed 10,000 head of cattle, damaged 2,000 houses and flooded more than 20,000 acres of agricultural land.

B.C.'s Reputation in Jeopardy

DIRECT effects of strikes in a community or province are visible to all in silent factories, idle men, disrupted services, scarcity of supplies and diminishing local trade. The indirect economic effects may not be immediately discernible, yet they can be more far-reaching and longer lasting. Nor are they always to be reckoned in precise terms of dollars and cents—so many millions lost in the suspension of payrolls, so many more in the halting of production. Anything which tends to weaken faith outside in the industrial stability of a province may in the long run do a great deal more harm.

In the case of British Columbia the current wave of strikes already has begun to raise questions in other parts of Canada as to the outlook for a region which should have the brightest future in the whole of the Dominion. All across the country the press is taking note of the industrial strife now wracking most parts of the province and expressing dire forebodings as to the effect of the province's progress.

The Winnipeg Free Press says the strike situation in B.C. is "rapidly becoming a national disaster"; writes of the present industrial climate in this province as something for which "the full price has yet to be paid," although B.C. and the nation are now confronted with a large preliminary instalment.

The Edmonton Journal notes that B.C. has now lost the title of being the province with the highest per capita income in Canada, due to loss of income in strikes. It refers to B.C. as the most strike-ridden province in Canada and observes that it is "again in the throes of labor disputes and inter-union rivalry which have sapped the province's economy of about $24,000,000 in two weeks."

Leading newspapers throughout the country—and, what is worse, in other parts of the world as well—are commenting in much the same strain. There is general sympathy for B.C. in its role as battleground for a labor war, but running through observations printed for tens of millions to read are threads of doubt as to the security of investments in a province so torn by strife between management and labor, between union and union, between government and both sides.

This is perhaps the more serious aspect of the current state of affairs. Every strike ultimately is brought to an end and most—though not all—of those directly affected make recovery. The province's economic reputation is more vulnerable and cannot stand many more of the blows which lately have been administered.

Let Us Not Be Too Greedy

PREMIER BENNETT'S gambit for a slice of the Northwest Territories right up to the Arctic Circle is of a piece with his visionary aspect of B.C. as the future chief province of Canada. This does him credit, nor can he be faulted in the sincerity of his devotion to the interests of B.C. It comes first in any dealings with the federal government.

That very factor of course will compel Ottawa to examine his proposal with a wary eye. Provincial and federal governments of differing party color never favor the other getting the advantage, and if Ottawa agreed to handing over a huge chunk of the NWT it would only be if it thought it was getting the best of the deal.

The pros and cons are conjectural at best, and the potential oil and mineral wealth of the area involved might not offset the upkeep of the Alaska Highway and the liability of services rendered to a sparse population in wild and isolated country of severe climatic conditions. Not for many a long year at least. Even for a "debt-free" province such empire-building is cause for plenty of thought.

In fact B.C. is big enough in all conscience as it is. Succeeding governments for several decades will have all they can do properly to guide its development. It is also a very favored province, rich in natural resources and lacking only the population to make full use of them. That will come in time, and at the rapid pace consistent with modern ways. Perhaps B.C. should not be too greedy. There is no urgent need for a covetous eye cast northwards, with large areas of the province virtually untouched and golden opportunities lying within its present boundaries.

One doubts that Ottawa will be receptive to the proposal in any case. There is a half-promise that the Yukon and the NWT will some day be a province on their own, a project which the intrusion of B.C. would upset. The federal government is liable also to think that B.C. is well enough blessed without further aggrandizement, and that is an argument not easy to refute.

Fire Hazard Mounting

CURRENT indications suggest that British Columbians will need to be careful in the woods during the balance of July if the province is not to invite another visitation from bush blazes. For four days there has been unusual heat accompanied by critical humidity over much of the coastal forest areas, including Vancouver Island. Another few days of this condition and forest cover could become explosively dry. Under such conditions one spark in the tinder might be enough to precipitate a succession of damaging fires.

Foresters and lumbermen know how to handle themselves in the bush under these conditions. The public as a rule does not. In the picnic season, with every wooded glen and strip of beach a beckoning attraction for summer outings and every dried-out roadside so much waiting tinder, there is real need for something more than ordinary care on the part of vacationists. Smoking materials, fire in any form, glass or dried out collections of waste paper, all need to be disposed of safely. For the average outing party this may take as much as three minutes of clean-up time. Yet the precaution, if exercised generally, could save British Columbia tens of millions of dollars in forest assets.

Interpreting the News

Gaitskell's Hard Row

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BRITAIN'S Labor Party is perpetually on the boil. Take one kettle off the fire, and another starts to sing.

That may be Hugh Gaitskell's reflection as the party's chief cook and bottle-washer contemplates the sad state of his kitchen.

For years, party leader Gaitskell tried to keep his big, discordant opposition party together in face of repeated attacks by left-wing Aneurin Nye Bevan.

Now Bevan has joined the team, and Gaitskell confronts a new threat to party unity from union leader Frank Cousins—a tall, 35-year-old Yorkshireman, who has introduced an element of pure emotion into labor's search for a satisfying policy on nuclear arms.

At the Transport and General Workers Union conference on the Isle of Man recently, Cousins piloted his 1,300,000 workers overwhelmingly against labor's revised policy on weapons of mass destruction.

In effect, this action by Britain's biggest union—representing about one-eighth of organized labor—is a repudiation of the nuclear deterrent underlying the NATO alliance.

Serious British newspapers, such as shake their heads. They respect Cousins for his sincerity and courage, but they feel it is too emotional an approach to a complex problem.

"The fact is that the union resolution does not contain what it purports to contain, a workable alternative to the official policy," said The Times. "It expresses not a policy but an attitude dictated by sincere and creditable emotion."

The Manchester Guardian, also acknowledging the depth and sincerity of anti-bomb sentiment, says, "It is really not enough to say that, because you love your family, you insist that defense policy must not be based on nuclear weapons."

Cousins denied that his action will split the labor movement, but the consensus is that this new symptom of disarray in opposition ranks will cost labor votes at the general election expected in mid-October.

Those who know Cousins feel sure that he is sincere when he says he is not interested in extending his anti-nuclear campaign into a bid for party leadership. His forthright opposition, in fact, will probably rally centre and right-wing socialists around the Gaitskell-Bevan axis.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE weather in London is perfect, says Alderman "Cappy" Proudfoot in a hasty note—he doesn't know it's been super-perfect here—yet "I really must buy an umbrella."

This because everyone seems to carry one, allied on the male side to a dark suit. He must have been up in the "city." Anyway it induced him to "ask at my tailor's if everyone was going to a funeral or coming back from one."

Cappy says the BBC was trying to find out the pronunciation of Pen-nask Lake, where the Queen stayed before coming to Victoria, but "my Scotch-Indian accent was no help." They had to go to B.C. House to ask General Hoffmeister.

No one essaying to build a house in Victoria thinks of growing the roof beforehand, but that's the case with Sam Lane's "Anne Hathaway Cottage." Its thatched roof was harvested in a Spanish field. This cottage is the latest addition to the little bit of Shakespeare's scripted isle which the Lanes have planted in Esquimalt. It is therefore appropriate to the theme that the home of the poet's wife should be included, and last Sunday's official opening by Reeve Wurtele climaxed several years of dedicated search and effort.

The cottage is an exact replica of the Anne Hathaway Cottage at Stratford-on-Avon, birthplace of both Anne and William. It is the only duplicate extant, and the reproduction has been carried out with remarkable fidelity by builder Victor Leigh. Visitors who know the original will doubtless consider it a masterpiece.

Inside the cottage are period pieces of Shakespeare's day and many other items of Tudor times, including a copy of the straight-backed, uncomfortable courting-seat whereon the poet wooed his bride. Our modern-day swains have it much easier.

This is certainly another tourist attraction par excellence, one which belongs to its setting. Victorians should find it of much interest too.

I listened with admiration the other night as Archie McKinnon was interviewed over the air. Archie was as good at broadcasting as he is at turning out crack swimmers and athletes. The words flowed out like a river in spate, but all neatly dovetailed into his subject matter as though public speaking were his only vocation.

The thing was of course that he knew what he was talking about, but even so; not every expert can express himself so aptly on his particular bent. Here is one member of the community who has served it well, year in and year out for a long time.

This year's Smile Show is a merry thing, and well worth a visit. Prophets usually have small honor in their own home towns, and this is the way it is with entertainers. American visitors are captivated by these summer productions of Jerry Gosley and often go back again; local theatregoers in the past haven't been quite so enthusiastic.

They don't know what they are missing; a bright, spontaneous offering of good talent in amusing sketch and song. Its very modesty is a refreshing change from the blasé slickness of many celluloid professional shows.

In point of fact some Victoria singers and entertainers are ahead of some performers you see on network television. But because they live here and not in New York their quality often goes unappreciated.

The Smile Show is designed to give its audiences a nice, pleasing night out. It does just that.

Back to Geneva . . .

Which End of the Dog to Believe?

By W. N. EWER, from London

IT is very difficult indeed to foresee the course of the second phase of the Four-Powers foreign ministers' meeting in Geneva. Even more difficult to assess the chances of its success or failure.

So much depends on the Soviet attitude. And Moscow seems—as not infrequently—to be speaking with two voices. One is Gromyko's. The other is Khrushchev's.

It is the old story of the dog which wagged its tail and growled at the same time. Which end of the animal are we to believe? Gromyko in his last talk with Selwyn Lloyd at the end of the first phase seemed to be wagging his tail, at any rate a little. Khrushchev in his interview with Harriman seemed to be decidedly "growling."

Can one hope that back in Geneva Gromyko will be ready to move some way towards meeting the very considerable advance that the Western powers have already made towards finding a basis for an "interim" agreement on Berlin? Or must one believe that Mr. Khrushchev meant what he said when he told Mr. Harriman that the Soviet foreign minister will only "repeat what he has already told you. If he doesn't we will fire him."

That could mean that Mr. Gromyko comes back to Geneva with definite instructions to be completely inflexible. In which case the outlook is decidedly gloomy. Or it could be just another example of Mr. Khrushchev's bizarre sense of humor—especially at the expense of his own ministerial colleagues.

But there were other disturbing parts of the Harriman interview. Mr. Khrushchev is prepared to allow Western troops to remain in Berlin for a short time. But he will not agree to any more entering Berlin and those already there must eventually leave.

There is to my mind an ugly and unpromising ring about such language at such a time.

However we shall see as the meeting develops. The Western ministers, as Mr. Selwyn Lloyd told the House of Commons, still believe that if they persevere agreement may be possible.

They have already gone a long way to meet the complaints which the Soviet government makes about the present status in West Berlin.

Those complaints are two. First that the allied troops in West Berlin constitute some sort of a military menace to the East German Republic. The "West" have offered to limit their strength—which even now is no menace to anybody—and to undertake that they shall not be equipped with any but "conventional" weapons.

The second complaint is that West Berlin is being used as a centre for propaganda, espionage and "subversive activities" against the "East." The Western powers offer some form of quadripartite control to ensure that neither West nor East Berlin is used for such purposes.

Now surely if the Russians are serious in their complaints some agreement along these lines should be capable of being worked out without undue difficulty. But (this to my mind is the kernel of the whole matter) is the Soviet government ready to find some settlement which would remove any complaints they may have about the working of the arrangements which have been (without serious troubles) in force for the past ten years? Or are they still insistent that the Western allied troops shall be withdrawn after a "short time?"

If so no one has to ask oneself why. If arrangements can be made—as they certainly could be—by which the presence of the Western troops would involve neither a threat nor a nuisance to the East German regime, why continue to demand their withdrawal?

The fact is inescapable that once the Western troops were withdrawn the two million people of West Berlin would be entirely dependent for their security and freedom on guarantees given to them by the Soviet and East German governments. And surely "history teaches us" that nothing is easier than for a great power to announce that the small people have violated some provision of the agreement and that the guarantees therefore no longer hold good.

Without the Western troops, in fact, West Berlin's tenure of freedom would be revocable at any moment by the powers which encircle it.

So here I think is the essence of the matter: If the Soviet government is prepared under whatever form to drop its demand for the "liquidation" of the Western allies' presence in West Berlin (unless and until Berlin becomes the capital of a reunited Germany) then I can see no reason why some sensible arrangement should not be agreed upon. But if that demand is maintained then I cannot see how there can be agreement.

In fact it all depends on what instructions Mr. Gromyko has brought back to Geneva.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

THE manager of a small wholesale agency that employs about sixteen people hires his help on one strict condition: that they ask no favors.

No days off, other than Saturdays, Sundays, statutory holidays, and stipulated summer holidays. None of this business of saying your team is playing in a neighboring town and could you get off at 3 p.m. No grandmothers' funerals. If your mother dies, he asks what time the funeral is, and lets you off in reasonable time to catch it.

"Look," he says, "I pay wages for so many hours' work per week. If you haven't got that many hours, I've got to find somebody who has. I measure everybody by the hour the way I measure drygoods by the yard."

He himself is a stickler, which is the nice way of spelling it, who asks no favors in return and works like a machine from exactly 8.30 a.m. to 5.30 p.m., and expects to be president of the company in due time.

Last week his mother died. A rich uncle from Texas came up for the funeral and then wanted to be shown the town, taken out for golf, driven up for the weekend to the summer resort area. On top of that, orders such as haven't been seen since 1953 poured in.

Our stickler nearly went crazy. He had to ask favors of everybody in the company, down to the boy who carries the shipments in and out the back door.

And do you know the silly part of this story?

Everybody favored him! They all hope to be manager when he moves up to president.

With the Classics

I am the daughter of Earth and Water,
And the nursing of the sky;
I pass through the pores of the ocean and shores;
I change, but I cannot die.
For after the rain when with never a stain
The pavilion of heaven is bare,
And the winds and sunbeams
With their convex gleams
Build up the blue dome of air,
I silently laugh at my own cenotaph,
And out of the cavern of rain,
Like a child from the womb, like a ghost from the tomb,
I rise and unbuild it again.

—SHALLS, "The Gods"

All Above Average

(From The Montreal Gazette)

THE U.S. Automotive Transport Association Foundation commissioned the Opinion Research Corporation to make a survey of the motivations of the average motorist.

The first thing the survey proved is that there is no such thing as an average motorist. "Nobody is average, according to the drivers themselves," said a summary of the report. "Nine of 10 adults in the investigation (and 100 per cent of those with violation records) rated themselves above average in driving skills and better than average in obeying traffic laws."

This makes a lot of things more understandable. If a driver is above average, then advice like "Drive safely" doesn't apply to him; that's meant for ordinary people.

The best way for the "above average" motorist to prove he's right in his opinion of himself is to work a little harder at it, in taking precautions, in extending courtesy to other drivers, in trying to get to his destination in just average time.

Letters to the Editor

Straining at a Gnat

The protest of the SPCA occasioned by the gift to Prince Philip of two falcons is rather interesting. We all respect this society, but, like most of us on occasion, it strains at a gnat and swallows a camel.

After all, the ancient sport of falconry is surely no worse than the sport of hunting game, and, although the hawks are kept in captivity, a good falconer sees to it that they have plenty of liberty.

What I cannot understand, however, is how the SPCA can condone the practice of poultrymen keeping laying hens in batteries; for nowadays immediately pullets start to lay they are transferred to small cages which they never leave until they are taken out to be killed.

A hen is a living creature and loves its freedom as we do. I know there is an economic side to this practice or the commercial poultrymen would not do it, but it is a cruelty nevertheless that should be stopped.

A. R. DAVIDSON.

Marxist Socialism

May I comment on G. E. Mortimore's column on pure socialism Sunday, July 5. Marxists do not, as he says, bury their noses in Das Kapital, but with an understanding of the Marxian philosophy he interprets same in the light of conditions at present existing.

Also no Marxist ever claimed that the capitalists were a wicked lot; on the contrary they always claimed they had a useful function to perform, namely, to develop the resources of the world, to build means of transportation, factories and improve the machinery of production to the point where the goods produced are sufficient to take care of the needs of everyone. Then and then only will socialism be possible.

When he says "a barber with his shop or a fisherman with his boat is a capitalist," that's just pure nonsense. A capitalist is one who owns sufficient of the world's wealth to maintain him without working. Anyone holding a managerial position, or those below who are compelled to sell their labor power in order to live, are members of the working class, whether they realize it or not.

Also he says "suppose we get control by persuasion or violence." Marxists never advocate violence. As Marxists we claim we can only change this system when we get a majority in parliament, understanding, and wanting socialism.

As regards the CCF and so-called communism, they both stand for state ownership as is practised in Russia today. It is not socialism, but simply a system to compel the workers to produce more, for less, and should the workers of Canada support the CCF in their state ownership schemes they too will find their lives controlled exactly as they are in Russia today.

C. LUFF.

2518 Empire Street.

Not the First

In the report of the color ceremony Saturday's paper makes the statement that this is the first time in B.C. history that a reigning monarch has presented the colors.

May I respectfully remind the Colonist that in 1939 His Majesty the late King George VI presented the king's color to the RCN of Pacific Command.

M. BARCLAY.

Bat-Toting Seamen Convicted

VANCOUVER (CP)—Eight seamen arrested by police while on a tour of downtown beer parlors two weeks ago were found guilty Tuesday of possessing offensive weapons and will be sentenced Thursday.

Five others were acquitted. Only Victoria seaman involved, Joseph Fry, was found guilty.

The 13 members of the Seafarers' International Union were arrested during a dispute with longshoremen over loading of Northland Navigation ships in a strike of marine engineers.

The men were charged with possession of a shotgun, 11 sawed-off baseball bats, two "billy" clubs, a soldering iron attached to a piece of pipe and two bicycle chains.

Royal Navy Sub To Join RCN

DEVONPORT, England (UPI)—The Royal Navy A class submarine Auriga will spend 18 months with the Royal Canadian Navy, it was announced Tuesday. The ship was recommissioned yesterday after a lengthy refit and will sail for Canada in November.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former State Secretary Dean Acheson related Tuesday that during the early part of the Korean War Washington thought for a short time that Russian bombers were on their way to attack the United States.

ALARM TELEPHONED—Acheson said Defence Secretary Robert Lovett telephoned him an alarm shortly before British Prime Minister Clement Attlee was to confer at the White House with President Harry Truman. The Korean War began in June, 1950, and Attlee came to Washington for conferences the following December.

Acheson said Lovett informed him that all aircraft in the U.S. had been placed on an immediate alert and that American fighter planes in Canada had been sent aloft.

STRATEGY SEMINAR—Acheson told the story of the false alarm in an address to a strategy seminar underway here for a group of reserve officers.

He said that the incident brought out the imperturbability of the British. The former Secretary of State recalled that he immediately telephoned the British ambassador, Sir Oliver Franks who replied: "You don't say so."

FAST FREIGHTS—Railways in Britain operate 756 express freight trains every day, compared with 300 before the Second World War.

Ben-Gurion 'Caretaker' Until Vote in Israel

JERUSALEM (UPI)—David Ben-Gurion reported failure Tuesday in his efforts to form a new coalition government in Israel but agreed to stay on as caretaker until general elections next fall.

The 74-year-old Israeli leader told President Itzhak Ben Zvi he would carry on "despite the moral and emotional difficulties involved."

He referred to the fact he will be forced to continue with a cabinet including four leftwing ministers who bitterly opposed his sale of 250,000 grenade-launchers to West Germany.

Ben Gurion resigned and brought down his government July 5 over this issue.

Major Underwood Dead at 87

Crete Experience Turned Officer to Islamic Faith

A man who rose from drummer boy to major in the armies of the Commonwealth and whose proud boast was "I was always a front-line soldier," died here Monday in his 87th year.

Maj. E. B. Underwood forsook Christianity in 1902 while stationed in Egypt with the British forces and became a Mohammedan, a faith which he held until his death.

He will be cremated Saturday following brief family rites at McCa's funeral home.

HARROWING EXPERIENCE—Maj. Underwood embraced the Islamic faith some four years after a harrowing experience in Crete "turned me against Christianity," he told a reporter a few years ago.

The experience came during what he termed "the weekend war," a Crete insurrection, when he was detailed to a hanging fatigue charged with the execution of Muslim Bash-Bazouk ringleaders who were said to have murdered Christians.

CHANGED NAME—In embracing his new faith he changed his middle name from Brownlow to Basheer and exchanged blood with a member of the Mohammedan sect.

He fought off medical injections with the words, "If you draw blood from a Mohammedan, I want blood back."

MILITARY FAMILY—Maj. Underwood came from a military family in Deptford, Kent, and enlisted as a drummer with the Coldstream Guards in 1888 at the age of 15.

Following an incident in which he refused to apologize to a vicar's daughter after he told her to mind her own business when she remarked that he sang too loud.

He was a sergeant with the Highland Light Infantry 10 years later in Malta and the next year went to Crete where for two days he fought with the defenders of the Mengalo Bastion. He was wounded and mentioned in dispatches.

OFF TO BOER WAR—Back in England a year later he married the daughter of the regimental bandmaster, Alice May Hogben (she died 18 months ago), before moving with his unit to the Boer War with two brothers.

To each of the three brothers went the Queen's Medal with clasp.

Following the South African War he moved, with his wife, to Cairo, where, again with his brothers, he was decorated with the King's and Queen's South Africa Medals by Sir R. Wingate, air-dar of the Egyptian army.

From Egypt he went to India, where one of his brothers was drowned in the Ganges and where he won promotion to quartermaster-sergeant.

EMIGRATED TO CANADA—In 1910 he accepted his discharge and emigrated to Canada where he worked for a time with the Home Bank of Canada while active in the 10th Royal Grenadiers of Toronto and, later, the 100th Winnipeg Grenadiers.

With the declaration of war in 1914, he was appointed company sergeant-major with the 27th Battalion, CEF, and shortly was made RQMS.

BECAME CAPTAIN—Within a short time his unit went overseas and to the front where, in France, he became RSM and, a few months later, commissioned with the rank of captain.

Following the war he returned to Canada and a peacetime military career until his retirement in 1932.

AVOID GARDENING—Up until a few days before his death he was an avid gardener at his home at 5424 Fowler Road.

He is survived by four sons, Victor, Leslie, Ernest and

Attack by Red Jets 'Lawless Banditry'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. navy charged Tuesday that the June 16 attack by Communist MIG fighters on a U.S. patrol plane was an act of "lawless banditry" designed to force American planes farther back from Red-held shores.

It added that it had no intention of calling off patrol flights near Communist-held territory although it would continue to respect the three-mile international limit.

The navy said its investigation of the incident showed that the attack on the P4M patrol plane "originated and terminated in North Korea." The attack occurred over the Sea of Japan, about 45 miles from North Korea.

It stirred up considerable controversy because of the inability of the American plane to shoot back. There also were charges that spare parts for the guns were hard to get.

The navy said the two forward firing guns were not operable because certain parts were missing. But it said this had nothing to do with defence of the airplane because the attack was pressed from the rear.

The report recommended "no disciplinary action."

Wall Street Resumes Upward Trend

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices moved ahead sharply reversing a three-day downturn.

Steels and motors, bellwethers of recent market moves, spearheaded the broad recovery which lacked fractions to around two points on prices of pivotal shares.

Hupp Corp. led the list for the second straight day, climbing 1/4 at 89.00 shares.

Inco Stocks $100

TORONTO (CP) — Industrial stocks scored their best advance in more than a week as the stock moved ahead in quiet trading.

A gain of 1 1/2 points raised International Nickel to 100, a 1959 peak for the issue, and provided both the industrial and base metal index with a little extra boost.

New Mylanaque was the standout among speculators, after a slow start. It was up 18 cents at $1.90 on a turnover of 160,000 shares. Three of the five most active gained, one, Can-Erin, lost 6 cents at $1.24.

Among industrials two of the five most active gained, two lost. Changes for the most part were in small fractions, although a number of fair gains went to several lighter traded issues. Building products gained 3/4 at 38 1/2, but Goodyear Tire lost 3/4 at 120.

Banks had the best industrial gains. Royal added 1 1/2 at 90 and Bank of Nova Scotia was up 1/4 at 80 1/2. Ford Motor, the U.S. company, added 2 at 72 while Ford A was up 1 at 181. Dominion Stores dipped 1/4 at 70.

Hudson Bay dipped 1/4 at 17 1/2 and Bailey Selburn lost 15 cents at $7.55 among western oils. Pacific Petroleum, however, was up 1/4 at 13 1/2.

Banks Make Gains

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices showed an irregularly firmer tendency at the close of quiet trading on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges with most changes remaining in a fractional range. Mining turnover was high.

Banks paced the gainers. Royal was up 1/4 at 89 1/2 while Nova Scotia was up a point at 80 1/2.

In irregularly firmer paper, point gains were made by Howard Smith at 46 and International Paper at 121. But Anglo-Canadian Pulp dropped a point to 43.

Utilities, base metals, oils and construction issues also showed some strength. Imperial Oil at 40 1/2 was up 1/4.

Interprovincial Pipeline lost a point at 53 while Page-Hervey was up 1/4 at 39 1/2. Argus eased 1/4 at 39 1/2, while General Dynamics at 49 1/2 was up 1/4.

The medium-priced and penny mines were mixed. Hollinger Improved 1/4 at 33 and Opemiska Explorers was up 4 cents at 35 1/2. Orchem dipped 11 cents to 68 cents. Mobimet was up 10 cents at 1.10 while Montgomery slipped 5 cents to 61 cents.

Support for Grandeur

VANCOUVER — Coppers generally were dull and lower but Grandeur was an exception rising 40 cents to 1.70. Bethlehem was lower, but late trading came into Torwest at 72 cents.

Giant Mascot advanced three cents to 27 cents and Pacific Nickel to 68 cents for a similar gain.

Canadian Collieries eased to 58 1/2 after 59 1/2, but Dominion Tar closed on top at 18 1/2. Trans Canada was stronger at 28 1/2 and Western Plywood repeated 19.

B.C. Petroleum Firm

Medallion Plans Eastwood Merger

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Medallion Petroleum Ltd., a B.C. company, is planning a merger with Eastwood Oil on a share exchange basis.

E. A. Galvin, president of Medallion, in the annual report said that Medallion shares would be offered to shareholders of Eastwood on a date not yet fixed.

Medallion holds a substantial interest in Eastwood which was formed to acquire the oil and gas interests of General Petroleum of Canada Ltd. It also owns shares in New Superior Oils of Canada Ltd.

ARCAN SUSPENDED

Twenty-four hours after mass selling of Arcan Corporation sent the market into a turmoil, the directors of the Toronto and Canadian stock exchanges suspended dealings in the shares of the Hamilton company.

The action appears one that should have been taken earlier to prevent the chaotic trading in the Monday session.

Following the suspension, Arcan stock was being quoted for trading over the counter at $1.50-$1.60. It opened Monday at $1.50.

Arcan recently acquired control of Bon Ami Ltd., manufacturers of detergents and cleaners.

OIL PRODUCTION UP

Production of oil in Alberta during the week ending July 13 rose to 372,243 barrels a day, up 23,658 barrels a day from the corresponding week of 1958.

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

For once in a long time Vancouver Island did not have a contender for a place on the B.C. Willington Cup team. The fact was that none of the experienced local golfers have shown the necessary degree of consistency this year. Laurie Kerr, who was on last year's team lost his form at a critical period, and Frank Scroggs, the new city champion, became hot too late to stake a claim.

The best bet was probably Bill Wakeham, the Island Open Champion, but this youngster was already picked for the B.C. junior team which is to play at Montreal later this month, and his turn may come later.

The only other Vancouver Island golfer considered by the BCGA selectors at their team picking meeting last weekend was Dick Munn, the Victoria city junior champion. Dick would probably have been the alternate if there had been such a berth on the team.

Some mainlanders were disappointed that Joe Jeroski, the high-ranking 20-year-old Vancouver golfer did not make his place in the Willington Cup side, but the selectors went for the more experienced Bob Kidd and John Johnston in their efforts to get a side that will bring back the Willington Cup to B.C.

Kidd and Johnston will both have the advantage of playing over their home course in the big test. Kidd met with some opposition because he had picked up in one competition after putting two balls out of bounds, but it would have been difficult to leave out one who is probably the best shotmaker in the province.

Two Fraser golfers Bert Ticehurst and Ron Willey complete the team. Ticehurst went in chiefly on his fine display in the qualifying rounds of the B.C. Amateur when he shot two 69's at Shaughnessy.

Willey, who won the B.C. Amateur and followed it up by taking the Pacific Northwest title from a hot field at Portland was the only unanimous selection.

The team looks like one that will be good enough for the task on hand.

George Bigelow on a grand tour of British golf courses drops me a note from the club of the Honourable Company of Edinburgh Golfers. The Doc had just been round the club's championship links at Muirfield in 73, which was very good going there.

He has played over many English courses, including Ganton, where once Harry Vardon was pro, and is now taking in such Scottish courses as Gullane, Kilspindie, Luffness, Longniddry, St. Andrews, Gleanagles, Nairn and Troon before slipping back over the border for a final fling at Holyrood before catching his ship home from Liverpool in mid-August.

George should certainly be in hot form, and he expects to arrive back in Vancouver just in time to take part in the Canadian Amateur Championship at Marine Drive.

Three of Gorge Vale's youngest players filled the top three spots in the club's championship qualifying round Sunday. Medalist was Allan MacLeod, whose 71 made him the only player to break the par of the course.

In second place tied were Billy Wakeham and Jim McColl, both with 74's. John Merriman was 75.

Art Donaldson because of an injured back was unable to defend his title and another former champion who was not included in the big field of 105, was Dave Panthorpe.

Two of British Columbia's leading women players had a rousing battle in the final of the Gorge Vale championship at the weekend. Mrs. A. De Girolamo beat Mrs. D. Naysmith by one hole, with Shirley failing to hole a five footer at the last that would have sent the match into an extra hole.

As Dorothy Herbertson, the winner has previously taken the Gorge Championship once before, although her greatest triumphs were in winning the B.C. Ladies' Championship two successive years.

Shirley Naysmith was trying for her seventh Gorge championship.

Here's a nice surprise for those Colwood golfers who took their team to victory in the recent Victoria District Inter Club golf league.

Robbie Robinson tells me that George Straith is putting up a prize valued at $150 for the members of the winning team.

The trophy plus prizes are to be handed over at a dinner sometime in September.

This is the big week for Vancouver Island Senior Golfers. Their 54 holes championship starts today at Colwood and then shifts to Victoria and Uplands on the following days.

Left-hander George Sparling is in good form to defend his title while Larry McCooey, runner-up in the B.C. Senior tournament at Vancouver recently, and Harold Lineham are other strong contenders.

Speaking Briefly

Moore Fight Delayed

Archie Moore's light-heavyweight title defence against Yvon Durelle was postponed for a second time yesterday as Moore remained at the bedside of his ailing wife in San Diego.

Promoter Eddie Quinn announced that the bout, originally scheduled for July 15 then reset for July 25 when Moore suffered a bruised heel, is now scheduled Aug. 12.

Mrs. Moore underwent a four-hour operation Monday night for a mastoid infection. Prior to the operation her condition had been reported as serious.

Durelle, bitterly disappointed in having to wait again, was still philosophical about the delay. "It could have been my wife," he said. "I don't blame Archie for going."

According to Solunar Tables calculated for this area, the best times for fishing and hunting for today and tomorrow will be as follows (Times shown are Pacific Daylight Time):

TODAY
A.M. Major Mover 2:10
P.M. Minor Mover 8:45
TOMORROW
9:10 3:40 8:35 2:30
Major solunar periods, lasting 1 1/2 to 2 hours, dark type. Minor periods, lighter type.

Short Trip Well Spent

Frank Colling just went for a short fishing trip in Misery Bay yesterday, but it was half an hour well spent. Colling, 3166 Earl Grey, caught this 38-pound, five-ounce spring, largest taken out of Saanich Inlet this year, and entered it in the Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest at Hall's Boathouse, Goldstream. — (Bill Boucher photo.)

Dodgers Sweep Two From San Francisco

Los Angeles Dodgers, still getting clutch hitting to go with fine pitching, shamed San Francisco Giants, 10, yesterday.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
San Francisco 10, Los Angeles 0. (Completing of May 10 suspension.)
Pittsburgh 10, Milwaukee 0.
Chicago 10, Cincinnati 0.

Chicago 10, Philadelphia 0.
St. Louis 10, Pittsburgh 0.
Milwaukee 10, Cincinnati 0.
Pittsburgh 10, San Francisco 0.

Yesterday's game climaxed a brilliant pitching series in which each club got only seven hits.

Monday, Don Drysdale beat Johnny Antonelli as the pair matched four-hitters. Yesterday, it was Roger Craig over Sam Jones, both with three-hitters.

Jones had given up only one hit, a single to Hodges, going into the ninth. Craig has now won five of six starts since being recalled from the minors.

Milwaukee's battered Braves took their seventh straight loss, 12-2, to Cincinnati Reds, committing three errors and giving up six unearned runs as they fell into fourth place. Don Newcombe got his 10th win, Lew Burdette his 10th loss.

PIRATES THIRD
Pittsburgh Pirates took over third spot when they beat Philadelphia Phillies, 7-6, in completion of a game suspended May 10, then lost 4-2 in the regular game as Robin Roberts stopped them on five hits for his ninth victory.

In the other league game, Chicago Cubs snapped St. Louis' win streak at four with an 8-2 victory over the Cards as Art Cecere won his third straight.

Cal McLish kept Cleveland Indians on top of the heap in the American League when he won his seventh straight and 12th of the season by beating New York Yankees, 5-1, with a three-hitter.

Babe Ruth Stars Play In Vancouver

Evening Optimists Babe Ruth League all-stars leave for Vancouver this morning to compete with nine other teams in the annual B.C. tournament July 23-26 at Capilano Stadium.

Their first opposition will be Vancouver Optimist Club, and winner of the tournament will play in the regional final Aug. 13-16 at Royal Athletic Park.

Victoria's all-star Pony League team will play in regional competition starting July 29 in Walla Walla, Wash., with the winner advancing to another tournament at Provoost, Utah.

Meanwhile, the league's second all-star club will compete in the Vancouver Island championship Saturday and Sunday at Carnarvon Park against Layritz and Duncan leagues.

Carnarvon plays Layritz Saturday at 1:30, with the winner meeting Duncan at 6:30.

'Rocks Bawled Out By Disgusted Coach After 'Disintegrating'

"If they weren't mad after what they did on Saturday, they should be after what they got last night."

Coach Norm Baker, sounding angry and more than slightly disgusted, was talking about his Victoria Shamrocks, who meet first-place New Westminster O'Keefe's tonight.

GP W L T F A Pts

Last night's score: Vancouver 12, Nanaimo 6.
Next game, tonight: New Westminster at Victoria.

at Memorial Arena in an effort to snap a three-game losing streak in the Inter-City Lacrosse League.

"They got bawled out, but good, at Monday night's work-out for their poor show at Nanaimo Saturday. Only a couple of guys were hustling, and everybody has to if we're to get anywhere," Baker stated.

Certainly the Shamrock play-off situation, while not yet perilous, is by no means a rosy one. They are three points behind Nanaimo Labatts, who lost, 12-6, last night, to Carlings in Vancouver. They play the high-flying O'Keefe's twice, then meet Carlings three times next week in a series that could make or break their playoff chances.

"We play in Vancouver Tuesday and in Victoria Wednesday and Friday next week, and if we could sweep, we'd be sitting pretty. But right now we're concentrating on O'Keefe's, and we have to quit this fooling around. In Nanaimo, we were going along fine, then just seemed to disintegrate."

TOUGH JOB

Shamrocks have a tough nut to crack in O'Keefe's, who need only four more victories to clinch their second straight league championship. Led by Jack Bionda, only 13 points short of a post-war league scoring record with 115 points, O'Keefe's have a nine-point lead over Carlings. Bright spot in the picture is the fact that in six meetings, the Irish have beaten New Westminster four times.

A knee injury to Eddie Kowalyk has forced Baker to juggle his defence, pairing Tom English and Derry Davies and moving Al Davies back with Al Gill. The three forward lines will remain the same.

Stu Smith, Jack Showers and Bob McKee will be on the first line, with White Severson, Ron Jay and Jackie Northup on the second and Jim McNeil, Jack Wilson and Tom Collett on the third.

Game time is 8:30.

Fraser Beaten

MONTREAL—John Fraser of Victoria was defeated by Denis Crotty of Montreal in Tuesday's third-round play of the Quebec junior tennis championships here. Fraser fell 7-5, 6-3.

After last night's win, only a half game separates Pages from first place, following a recent winning streak that has lifted them from the cellar.

Hodges, who pitched professional ball at Eugene, Ore., for the last five years, gave up seven hits. Loser Steve Bishop yielded eight and clubbed a triple and double as the game's top hitter.

Morrisons continued a steady climb in Senior Open-Softball League standings Tuesday night, using timely seventh-inning hitting by Don Pimlott and Ron Brousseau to post a 5-3 win over Gorge Hotel.

Pimlott unloaded a long triple to drive in second baseman Eddie Lou with the winning run. Brousseau, the club's cleanup hitter, followed with a clutch single to chase Pimlott home with an insurance run.

In Section II play at Heywood Park, Pat Bay Navy took advantage of sloppy infield play by Six Mile House to gain a 15-8 win.

New Soccer Plan

Winter Loop Big Surprise

Executive members of Victoria Evco's Pacific Coast Soccer League entry were mystified last night about a report in a Vancouver newspaper that moves will be made within two weeks to abandon the present schedule in favor of a winter season opening in September.

Kwong Trade Soon?

Coach Wayne Robinson of B.C. Lions said yesterday trade talks were continuing between the Lions and Edmonton Eskimos for Edmonton fullback Normie Kwong.

"We've been dealing with Eskimos off and on for three months and are still definitely interested in him," Robinson said. "Nub Beamer is still an unknown quantity, but even if he comes through in fine form we can certainly find a spot for a player like Kwong."

Beamer, 23, former Oregon star, joined Lion workouts Monday after receiving his army discharge. By Bailey, a Canadian citizen this fall, has one of the fullback spots cinched. Ken Hall, fullback from Idaho, was cut yesterday along with tackle Jerry Wallin as Robinson pared his team to 50 players.

Robinson would not say what the Lions have offered for Kwong, but the latest offer is said to include a player and cash. Also prominent in trade talk is linebacker Ted Tully, who came from Edmonton this year.

Last night in Edmonton, the Eskis trounced Calgary Stampede, 33-7, for their second straight exhibition win over the Calgary club. First game finished, 15-10.

Falling gates are said to be the main reason for the proposed season switch. League directors feel that there is very little hope for an increase in attendance.

SOME PROBLEMS

"But if they do decide to go with a winter season, the league will have to settle several differences with the present winter leagues. Most of our boys play in the Victoria and District League during the winter and several have already said that they would have to think it over before choosing one league."

The introduction of semi-professional player status has also been discussed by the PCL. Forms have already been distributed to the six teams.

Falling gates are said to be the main reason for the proposed season switch. League directors feel that there is very little hope for an increase in attendance.

Saanich Inlet Yields Biggest Spring of Year

It took Frank Colling just half an hour's fishing to come up with the largest spring salmon to be caught this year in Saanich Inlet.

Colling, 3166 Earl Grey, landed a 38-pound, five-ounce spring yesterday morning in Misery Bay, and weighed it in for The Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest at Hall's Boathouse, Goldstream.

Colling began fishing in Misery Bay at 9:45 yesterday morning. He caught the fish on a Minnow-Tearer, with 200 feet of line and eight ounces of weight, and within half an hour he was headed back to the boathouse to enter his catch.

The fish virtually assured Colling of a spring salmon crest for the month of July in The Daily Colonist contest. Contest leader in the spring division is still Jim Bailey of 636 Admirals, who caught a 41-pound, eight-ounce fish July 13 in Pedder Inlet.

From Oak Bay Boathouse comes news of a new leader in the coho division and improved spring fishing. Keith Fenwick, 2529 Wark, landed a 14-pound coho off Ten Mile Point on Strip-Tearer July 15. Fenwick, a Colonist subscriber, thus takes over as leader of the coho class. Previous leader was Donald Bowers of Venice, Calif., who caught a 9-13 coho.

Also included in the Oak Bay list were several large springs, topped by a 39-1/2-pounder taken by Leslie Morgan, 418 Kipling, and a 33-pounder landed by George Pilling, 1768 Chandler.

Latest entries:

BLACK SWAN, ELK LAKE

S. R. Smith, 385 Earl Grey: 5-11 coho, James Island, Strip-Tearer.

OCEAN BOULEVARD CAFE, ESQUIMALT LAGOON

Ed. Young, 837 Station: 5-8 coho, Albert Head, herring strip.

OAK BAY BOATHOUSE, BEACH DRIVE

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing. All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Borrowed Money Finances Trip

UBC Rowers Flying Down East

VANCOUVER (CP)—Enough financial aid has been obtained to send a rowing entry to the Pan-American games trials at St. Catharines, Ont.

Fear was expressed last week that the crews from the University of British Columbia and the Royal Vancouver Rowing Club would have to cancel plans to attend the trials because of lack of money.

During the weekend citizens authorized the British Columbia Sports Council to borrow $3,500 to help defray expenses at the trials. The party of 18 will fly from here Wednesday.

B.C. rowing crews won gold medals at the British Empire Games in 1954 and 1958 and upset Russia in the Royal Henley regatta in 1955.

Two rugged University of British Columbia crews head the B.C. entries who leave today for the rowing trials.

Because UBC has dominated Canadian rowing during the last five years the crews will enter the competition as favorites. Yet neither has ever faced competition.

On the eight-man crew are: Peter Roblin, 21, Mission, B.C. (stroke); John Madden, 19, Vancouver; Glen Mervyn, Kelowna, B.C.; Bud Stapleton, 21, Vancouver (Captain); Dave Anderson, 21, Victoria; Dave Park, 20, Vancouver; Ian Beardmore, 20, Vancouver; John Cartmel, Vancouver and Tom Bil, 21 (Cox).

The fours: Paul Bernard, 22, and senior mile.

Garden Notes

An Invaluable Case

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

In spite of the lazy hum of insects and a pronounced inclination to sit in a deck chair and do nothing at all, July is a strangely busy month in the garden. There is, of course, the never-ending battle against weeds, and as July is an excellent propagating month, there are cuttings to be taken and rooted, strawberry runners to look after, and seeds to be sown.

Cuttings of shrubs root readily now in that invaluable little home-made propagating case I described in an earlier column.

In case you missed it, the propagator is nothing more than a bottomless wooden box sunk a few inches into the ground in a shady corner of the garden and covered with a sheet of glass or plastic. Dig over the soil in the bottom and add a 3-inch layer of equal parts peat moss and coarse sand, and you're in business.

Take your shrub cuttings with a little "heel" of old wood from the parent branch, and remove the soft tip, as this would soon wilt. Dust the cut end with a hormone rooting powder, insert in the peat-sand mixture, and pour a little water around each to bring the heel into close contact with the rooting medium.

There is still a little time left for the sowing of perennial and biennial flower seeds, and if these seeds go in before the end of the month, they should make plants big enough to winter safely. Some good subjects to sow now are Sweet William, Canterbury bells, Honesty, Delphinium, and Brompton stocks.

While these will germinate readily in an outdoor seed bed, it is always a bit of a problem to keep the soil from drying out while waiting for the seedlings to appear. If you have no cold-frame, another home-made propagating case will do the trick.

I have a strong dislike of overhead watering after seeds have been put in the ground, as an unpleasant crust forms on the surface following the wetting, cutting off the air supply to the germinating seeds below. The propagating case, kept tightly closed until the seedlings come through, makes such watering unnecessary. The seedlings from such sowings should be lifted out carefully on the point of a narrow trowel or a thin wooden plant label and shifted to an outdoor nursery bed. This should be done as soon as each tiny plant is big enough to handle, so they get a chance to make a well-branched root system.

The strawberries need some attention as soon as they have finished fruiting. Take off all runners which are not needed for replacement plants. If you are retaining any runners, make sure they come from the plants which bore the heaviest crops.

I have come to be a great believer in burning over the strawberry bed after cropping is finished. I shake up the straw with a digging fork and leave it for a day or so to dry out, then touch a match to it when there is a gentle wind to carry the fire across the bed. The fire won't hurt the roots or crowns—as long as it isn't permitted to smoulder for any length of time—and it cleans out an enormous number of pests, eggs, and disease spores.

Perry Mason—Criminal!

One of the worst criminals now at large is Perry Mason.

As everybody knows, he's Erle Stanley Gardner's fictional lawyer-detective. Perry Mason has never been a very law-abiding citizen, but lately things seem to have gotten out of hand. In Gardner's newest mysteries, Mason shamelessly tramples the law under foot at every turn.

In the recent "Case of the Mythical Monkeys" (Morrow) I counted five major felonies Perry Mason commits. There were probably many more, but I'm not a lawyer and can only spot the most obvious ones. Here they are:

1—On page 32 Mason talks to his client, a girl who has been alone in a mountain cabin under suspicious circumstances and has found a body there. Now she's afraid she'll be accused of murder. Mason tells her, right off the bat, to change into new clothes and leave her old ones—possibly bloodstained—at his secretary's apartment.

If this isn't a clear case of concealing evidence, I don't know what it is.

Second case of suppressing evidence.

3—On page 65 Mason is in the living room of a woman he suspects of the murder, walks against her loud protests into the next room and goes through her private papers spread out on a desk.

She cries, "You get out of here! You can't do this to me!"

Perry Mason answers, "I'm trying to get at the facts, and I want the facts. I'm warning you, Miss Meade, that you can't get away with this."

Miss Meade later turns out to be completely innocent of the murder. Anyway, Perry Mason had no right whatever to invade her privacy.

4—On page 92 Mason and his co-workers stand in front of the mountain cabin. It is locked. I quote: "Now look, Perry," Paul Drake said. "Do we have any right to go into that house?"

"Not a bit," Mason admitted cheerfully. "Whereupon they all get in through a window."

Clear case of breaking and entering.

5—On page 97 Mason finds, underneath the house, a can with a printed scarf and a box of 22 shells. (The murder was committed with a .22.) He tells Drake and the others he's going to keep these things. I quote again:

"Perry, you can't do it," Drake pleaded. "This is hot stuff."

"Mason nodded. 'I've got to do it, Paul. I'll take all the responsibility.'"

Well, on page 256 he weasels out of that one in the courtroom, saying that he knew all the time it was a plant. But I still say it's the clearest case of concealing evidence anyone ever saw.

Erle Stanley Gardner has written 39 Perry Mason mysteries. (All in all, he writes about four books each year.) At the rate of five felonies per volume—which seems to be about par—this means that Perry Mason's record now stands at 295 major crimes.

Something ought to be done about that fellow.

Chaplin Happy, Relaxed

(NANA)—Charlie Chaplin plans to be buried in the cemetery at Corsier, the little village overlooking the Lake of Geneva. "This is where we will all be buried," Chaplin told a recent guest to his palatial villa in nearby Vevey.

"Charlie will never return to the United States," I was assured. "He's a different person now, very happy and very relaxed. He adores his wife, Oona—calls her 'my walking Madonna.' They went to Venice to celebrate their 16th wedding anniversary. Their seventh baby is due in the winter."

"Charlie is spending money lavishly, and just paid a quarter of a million dollars for a 17-room house on the French Riviera. He's planning to put in a huge salt-water pool, and will furnish the house with priceless paintings and objects d'art."

Meanwhile, they are going to spend the rest of the summer at Majorca where Charlie has taken over a whole floor for his family. Chaplin can afford it. His intimates estimate his fortune at $100,000,000. His taxes in Switzerland last year were a mere $25,000. They would be at least half a million in America.

As for Chaplin's work, he has redone three of his silent films—"A Dog's Life," "The Pilgrim" and "Shoulder Arms"—and will release them as a trilogy, slowed down from the quickness of the silent screen for the big screens of today, and has composed new music with a Western theme. One of the songs, "I'm Bound for Texas," will be sung by his five-year-old son, nicknamed Tadpole, who is crazy about everything American and Western.

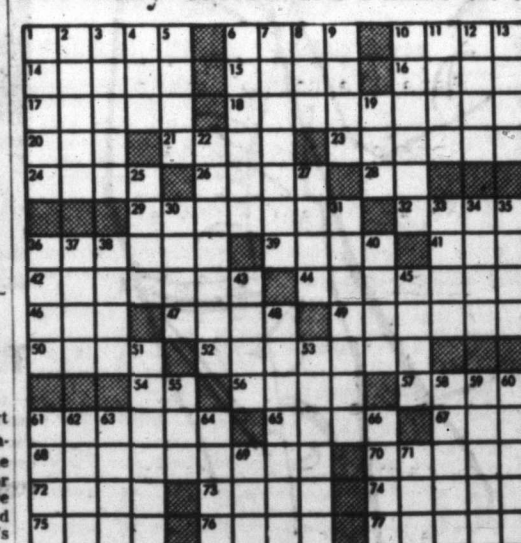

Another work project is Chaplin's biography, which he expects to complete next year, but I doubt it—he is only up to Page 21 right now, and he will be 71 next birthday. The book plan is for 900 pages. At the rate and length Chaplin works, it will more likely be 9,000.

Noel Coward's new home in Switzerland is 3,000 feet up in Montreux. Noel has sold one of his homes in the Caribbean because of the added attraction of paying all his taxes in Switzerland. "If I lived in England," he told an intimate, "I'd be lucky to be left with sixpence in the pound." For this reason also, Alfred Hitchcock will not work in England for pay—just expenses, which he computes at around $1,500 a week. Hitch has to eat!

Coward dined with Burl Ives in Geneva—Burl has put his son into summer school in Switzerland—and Ives would like Noel to write a play for him. The playwright is very interested in the idea. Noel also wants Vittorio de Sica for a musical film he is writing between rehearsals for his London ballet.

'Staggering' Mistakes

Doctor Cites Items Left Inside Patients

EDINBURGH (Reuters)—A Canadian doctor said Tuesday a "staggering number" of instruments and other articles are left in patients' bodies after operations.

Dr. H. B. Hilton, associate secretary of the Canadian Medical Protective Association, said that in the last six years in Canada alone surgeons had left 19 needles, 35 sponges, five pairs of forceps and 17 miscellaneous objects in the bodies of patients.

All "resulted in trouble," he told a joint meeting of the Canadian and British Medical Associations.

The number of cases where articles were lost is small in comparison with the number of operations, Dr. Hilton said.

In Canada sponge counts were made in most hospitals by the operating nursing staff "but sometimes the surgeon places too great a reliance on the staff doing the count."

"Most surgeons are aware of the dangers but a number seem to feel this sort of thing could never happen to them—which is a very unsafe attitude to take," he said.

A Calgary doctor told the joint meeting that antibiotic "wonder" drugs are responsible for a dangerous "surgical complacency" in the medical field.

Dr. J. S. Gardner said there had been a prevalent notion that the drugs might eventually eliminate all infections.

"The fact of the matter is that wonder drugs too often are responsible for rapid emergency of resistant pathogens."

Dr. K. S. MacLean of London, England, said certain antibiotics would have to be withdrawn from everyday use if doctors were to solve the problem of staphylococcus—drug-resistant germs.

The doctors were advised not to sterilize patients to prevent births unless such operations are necessary to preserve life or health.

Dr. L. Fisher, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Medical Protective Association, said it is puzzling why some doctors permit themselves to be talked into sterilization procedure or even to suggest it unless there are compelling medical reasons.

Blind, Sick Son Left Penniless

TORONTO (UPI)—The nearly-blind, arthritis-ridden son of a Toronto consulting engineer who left $1,000,000 to aid "plodding" students, was cut off in his father's will.

J. Edgar McAllister died at Charlottesville, Va., in May at the age of 89.

Lawyer Peter Brodey said Tuesday on behalf of his client, Samuel McAllister, 56, the only living son of McAllister, that he has made an application under the Dependents' Relief Act.

Brodey said his client is an invalid and has no money of his own. He had been a controller at the Curtis-Wright Aircraft Co. in Buffalo, N.Y., until his eyesight failed him in 1947.

McAllister, feeling "just a little hurt," said he does not know why he was cut out of the will.

He said he was in touch with his father until 12 years ago when the Christmas and birthday cards he sent were unanswered.

"I don't know what happened," he said.

'Old Hand' at Fines Gets No Time to Pay

Use of public streets as a "garage" for his car yesterday cost a Vancouver man $70 in fines and $10 costs when he was brought before Magistrate William Ostler in city police court on 24 separate charges of parking meter violations.

Diarmuid Joseph O'Brien, residing temporarily at 2712 Prior, was also fined $10 for failing to notify the motor vehicles branch of any change of address since obtaining his licence two years ago.

Magistrate Ostler refused the man time to pay the fines when the city prosecutor said that Vancouver police have three bench warrants outstanding and that there had been 18 warrants of committal for him for failing to pay when granted time.

"You're obviously an old hand at this game," said Mr. Ostler. "You're used to using public streets as a garage and you just figured you could keep ahead of the police."

He told the offender that cost of the time spent by court staff and police in tracking him down was "simply unbelievable."

James William Hamilton, 18, of 595 Baker, and Wayne Rudolph Albertson, 19, HMCS Naden, were each fined $15 after pleading guilty to being minors in possession of beer.

In Saanich police court yesterday, Eric Carl Pedersen, Central Saanich Road, was fined $15 for being a minor in possession of liquor beside a car on the Patricia Bay Highway.

Paul's Ltd.

New Cafe To Cost $250,000

A new restaurant near the Victoria-Saanich boundary is to be built on Douglas Street by Paul's Restaurants Ltd. this winter.

Estimated to cost $250,000, the job is going out to tender within the next three weeks.

On the eastern side of the busy upper Douglas Street, the restaurant will be constructed of cement slabs and glass front in the Finlayson-Larch block.

It will seat 120 persons and there will be parking facilities for 60 cars.

Paul Arsens, president of the company, said the site had been chosen because of the high traffic count on the main Trans-Canada and Pat Bay outlet.

He expects the new restaurant to be ready for use by March 1.

Long Presses On

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—Gov. Earl Long's weakened heart, adversely affected by New Mexico's high altitude, is threatening to put a halt to his madcap, comic opera-like tour of the Southwest.

A doctor had to be summoned Monday night after the fiery Louisiana chief executive fell into a "deep sleep" which aides feared for a time was a coma.

But despite the fact that the high altitude was affecting his heart, Long headed his car for the mile-high city of Denver.

NORMAL FOR HIM

Dr. Richard Landmann said after examining Long that the governor appeared to be in normal condition—"normal for him"—but that he needed plenty of rest.

Before Long dropped into the deep sleep he had said, "This altitude kinda gets me." It's pretty high.

Colorado, Denver Pass Buck

Santa Fe, the capital of New Mexico, is 6,990 feet above sea level.

Long was pale when he checked into a Santa Fe motel. He refused to see a local doctor, but finally agreed to have a nurse. Then, after eating chili and hot tamales, he dropped off into what an aide called the "deepest sleep I've ever seen him in." He feared it was a coma.

TALKED POLITICS

Yesterday New Mexico's Gov. John Burroughs visited Long for an hour and a half and afterward Long said they had talked about the possible 1960 Democratic presidential candidates.

In Denver, officials of the staid Brown Palace Hotel said Long will not stay in the Presidential Suite if he arrives as scheduled today. And he won't get any special attention from city or state officials.

CITY OR STATE?

Gov. Steve McNichols' administrative assistant, L. Donald Daily, said:

"Since he's visiting Denver, I really think it's up to the city to make some arrangements."

Mayor Dick Batterson's office, however, felt any Long reception should be handled by the state.

'Easy to Beat U.S. In Drill'—Philip

EDMONTON (CP)—Prince Philip said Tuesday that "it's pretty easy to beat the Americans in drill."

His comment was made to two 17-year-old air cadets, Warrant Officers Bob Erickson and Alex Szechina of Edmonton, as he moved about the grounds of the Alberta Legislature after luncheon.

He spoke to the boys for two minutes, asking about Alberta's school system and what courses are available through the Air Cadet League.

Szechina was a member of the Canadian cadet drill team which earlier this year in Minneapolis won the international drill competition for Canada against the United States. Canada has won the trophy eight of 11 times.

Lack of Competitive Bids Criticized

Mooney Pledges Fight To Block New City Hall

Proposal Today By IWA?

The IWA strike policy committee held meetings in Vancouver yesterday and it was expected a new proposal may be submitted to the lumber companies.

But an IWA spokesman said the "situation has reached a stage where no sudden settlement may be expected."

He said the IWA "is always open to new offers, but there has been nothing to move on at all."

Chamber Chooses Officers

New senior officers of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce named at a directors' meeting yesterday were W. Allan Pendray, left, president, and Justin V. Harbord, vice-president. Mr. Pendray will succeed Conway Parrott, when new officers take office sometime in September.

Too Costly, He Says And It's Not Right Time

By R. O. MARRION

A determined fight against the city accepting a Vancouver firm's offer to build it a new city hall was pledged yesterday by Ald. M. H. Mooney.

He will oppose building a new city hall at this time, he said, and if one is to be built, he will oppose building it on anything but a competitive basis, with Victoria contractors given an opportunity to submit tenders.

The Vancouver firm, Dominion Construction Co. Ltd., was authorized by the mayor and city manager in the spring to prepare a city hall plan and proposal without obligation on the city's part.

After more than two months' secret work in consultation with Roderick Clack, architect and head of the city's planning and inspection division, it presented to city council July

10 a plan for an eight-storey, $1,800,000 city hall on Blanshard between Courtney and Burdett.

The company offered to lease the building to the city for 30 years at about $130,000 a year with the right to buy it after 17 years for 70 per cent of its original cost, or after 20 years for 60 per cent, or after 22 years for 50 per cent.

In addition, the city would pay for furnishing, interior partitioning, and land other than three lots acquired by the company. Initial city hall requirements would permit two floors to be sub-let to the school board and two for private offices.

Alternative Financing Plans

City Manager C. C. Wyatt presented council with alternative financing plans ranging from borrowing $2,000,000 over 20 years, at a total cost of $3,488,000, to paying nothing for 14 years and then paying $6,521,000 in principal and interest in the next 16 years.

Ald. Mooney was critical yesterday of the company being authorized to prepare the plan and Mr. Clack being authorized to work on it without council's knowledge.

But he reserved his major fire for the plan itself.

'Rush In and Regret It'

In any event, he said, the city had never rushed into anything without regretting it, and this was "not the right time—some of the people have had great increases in taxes this year and it's been a burden to them and I can't see adding to the tax levy. And I can't see $2,000,000, that's going to amount to $4,000,000 for the privilege of working in a nicer building."

He suggested that the best way to finance a new city hall was to plan five years ahead for it, maintaining the city's pay-as-you-go policy and setting aside land-sale revenue and perhaps $100,000 a year in taxes.

The alderman was not alone yesterday in his concern about Victoria companies having a chance to compete if a new hall is to be built.

Victoria Building Industries Exchange wrote to city council asking for details of the city hall proposal "for study," and Donald Smith, VBE president, said some of the general contractors in Victoria were wondering about the terms and the opportunities for competition.

Ald. Mooney may be absent from a council meeting Thursday, he said, but is expressing his views in a letter to council.

Pregnant Mother Saves Infant Son

An expectant mother risked injury yesterday to save an 18-month-old son from drowning in Portage Inlet waters.

The mother, Mrs. D. R. Kinloch, due to enter hospital soon for birth of a second child, into the water from a wharf when she found her son, John, floating face down a few feet from the edge of the wharf.

The water was about four feet deep at the spot.

CRYING FOR HELP

After she got the child ashore the young mother ran crying for help to the front of the family home at 2648 Murray. Neighbors called Saanich police and fire department and fire department.

The youngster was reported suffering from pneumonia in St. Joseph's Hospital last night where he was taken from the scene of the near drowning. He was in an oxygen tent, but was responding to treatment.

GIVEN OXYGEN

The boy had been given oxygen earlier by the inhalator crew at the scene before being taken to hospital.

"It's been like a nightmare," the distraught mother said last night. The child apparently wandered away about 9 a.m. from the home into which the family had moved just a few days before and fell into the water near the mooring wharf. It is believed he was playing in a rowboat.

Navy Opens Doors

Pacific Command will throw open its gates Saturday afternoon so the general public can see the ships and installations of Canada's fleet and get a first-hand insight into the lives of its men.

The Navy Day program will include a demonstration by naval divers, a dramatic frogman and helicopter display, harbor firefighting exhibitions, an aerial ladder and life-net show by naval firemen, and weapons drill and physical training displays.

At HMC Dockyard, five ships of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron—the destroyer-cruisers HMCS Assiniboine, Ottawa, Fraser, Margaree and Skeena—will be open to visitors.

At HMCS Naden, visitors may visit the big yellow block "home" for hundreds of sailors under training, the new Naval Technical School, a number of special static displays and the fully equipped gymnasium.

Gates will be open to the public from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday. Children under 12 must be accompanied by an adult.

In City Seven Years, Officer Promoted

Supt. J. W. Bordeleau, in charge of the RCMP criminal investigation branch in Victoria for the past seven years, has been moved up to the post of director of criminal investigation in Ottawa.

He will be replaced, RCMP headquarters in Victoria announced yesterday, by Supt. Frank S. Spalding, at present criminal investigation branch officer in Winnipeg.

Insp. Thomas Horn, personnel officer in Victoria, has been appointed to take charge of the Edmonton subdivision, and Sub-Insp. Reginald Whittaker, in charge of the prevention service, has been appointed to take command of the London, Ont., subdivision. Replacements for these two officers have not been announced.

The transfers will take place "almost immediately."

City Angler Drowns At Ladore Falls Dam

ROALD REITAN ... Butchart star

Skin divers were scheduled to continue working in 90 feet of water near Ladore Falls dam on Lower Campbell Lake today seeking the body of 37-year-old John Puhach, Victoria, drowned there yesterday.

The Victoria man, who resided at 1120 Bewdley Avenue, tumbled backwards off a boomstick while fishing yesterday and disappeared in deep water.

Several anglers were standing nearby and heard the splash, but none saw him fall.

GONE FISHING

He had gone fishing up Island with his wife, Mary, and eight-year-old daughter, Patricia, and Mrs. Puhach's parents.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police said he was the farthest out on a boomstick from which several men were fishing. "Apparently he just lost his balance," an RCMP official at Campbell River stated.

Witnesses said the man's body never reappeared on the surface.

Skin divers and an inhalator crew were rushed to the scene without avail.

Police said the divers were working at a depth of about 90 feet and were only able to stay on the bottom for about 12 minutes at a time. Diving was slated to resume at day-break today.

Dragging was not practical due to the amount of rotting trees and stumps on the bottom.

NEAR SCENE

Mrs. Puhach and her mother were near the scene of the tragedy.

Ladore Falls is at the lower end of Lower Campbell Lake about 10 miles from Campbell River village.

Scene of the drowning is near the B.C. Power Commission's 70,000-horsepower Ladore Dam hydro plant.

Police said debris-screens at the inlet to the power station would have prevented the victim's body from being sucked into the generators.

Zoning Law Hearing Tomorrow

Pro Star Swims For Fun

When Holiday Watercolor diving star Athos Darigo isn't diving and swimming for the kind of money a professional entertainer makes, he goes diving and swimming just for fun.

Besides being the South American diving champion, a title which he has parlayed into a spot on the watercolor's star-studded cast, he is also Brazil's skin-diving champion.

The watercolor, produced by veteran professional swimmer Lena Layden, opens Thursday at Memorial Arena and runs to July 25.

Performances will start at 8:15 p.m. each night except Sunday and there will be a 2:30 p.m. matinee on Saturday.

Thursday night will be family night at the watercolor with a free ticket for a child under 12 with every purchase of an adult ticket.

The show is being sponsored by Victoria North Kiwanis in aid of the club's school program for retarded children.

Popular legend that artists must suffer to succeed was refreshingly crushed by a young American baritone here yesterday when he admitted he studied singing in college "as an easy credit."

Ronald Reitan, this year's co-winner of the Metropolitan Opera auditions in New York, appears at Butchart Gardens Thursday night in the second and final outdoor concert this season.

Looking more like an Olympic athlete than a young baritone well on his way to the top, Reitan said it was his college career which led him into singing.

He now holds a master's degree in fine arts, but it was while he was an undergraduate at Columbia University and in need of additional credits in the humanities that he swung to voice training.

He was studying for his doctorate at Stanford University when he won the Met audition and placed himself under contract to the world-famous opera company.

Prior to coming to Victoria, he made two appearances with the Cincinnati summer opera, and from Victoria he will fly to San Francisco where he will appear with the San Francisco Symphony under the direction of Arthur Fiedler.

He reports to the Met for rehearsals Aug. 25. At Butchart Gardens, he appears with the Victoria Symphony Orchestra under Hans Gruber's direction.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Can you help us get rid of an old drunk? This hush has been residing with us for five years. He's my wife's father and he moved in less than six months after we married.

Drinking has cost him one job after another. When my wife asked if I'd mind having her father, with us I thought he'd find another job and move out after a few weeks. Well, here it is, five years later and he's still with us — falling through doors and passing out regularly.

My wife agrees he should get out but she wants me to tell him. I refuse. If anything happened to him after he left us, it would be my fault and I'd never hear the end of it. I need some outside advice.—THE E-VICTOR.

Dear E-Victor: I admire you for giving food and shelter to this poor guy for five years, but what he really needed was help.

There are many excellent rehabilitation centres for those who are fighting the battle of the bottle. And if you've never heard of Alcoholics Anonymous, I suggest you look in the telephone book and contact them at once.

Engaged to Be Engaged

DEAR ANN: Our daughter is 17 and "engaged to be engaged." Her boy friend works in an office and rents a room across the street from our home so we see a good bit of him.

His parents live 300 miles away and he's invited her to drive down and meet them. I don't see anything wrong with this as the boy is very fine and I trust my daughter implicitly.

My husband has been stubborn about giving his permission. He claims it's not decent for unmarried people to travel together and says we'd be crazy to give our blessings to this trip. He says he trusts them too, but that this is begging for trouble.

I wanted to phone our clergyman but my husband said he's ashamed to let the clergyman know we're even considering such a thing. We have agreed to let you decide.

—ANXIOUS PARENTS.

Dear Parents: I'm with your husband. It would be neither wise nor proper to permit your daughter to take a 300-mile trip with a boy to whom she's "engaged to be engaged." (What'll they think of next? I remember when girls used to be engaged to be married!)

If the young man's parents wish to meet your daughter, suggest they visit your city for a couple of days — but not as guests in your home.

A Spoiled Poodle

Dear Ann: The woman who just moved into the next apartment is a divorcee with a standard poodle. This dog is spoiled worse than any child. She actually takes him to an animal beauty shop for pedicures and other foolishness.

Five nights a week she's out till all hours and the dog cries like a baby. I'm a nervous wreck from lack of sleep. I don't want to complain to the landlord and appear cranky. The divorcee is NOT a reasonable person you can talk to. What do you suggest?

—DARK CIRCLES.

Dear Dark: Try talking to her anyway. Give her a chance to remedy the situation. If she refuses, THEN speak to the landlord.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

TIME TO EXERCISE. For figure-watchers, summer is a sensitive season. Hot weather induces laziness, the lazy seldom exercise and lack of exercise causes fleshy accumulations.

Consequently, if you wish to preserve or improve the figure you've got, you cannot succumb to inactivity. You must exercise daily. Moreover, a workout offers other than figure benefits. It keeps you alert, graceful and by dissipating internal heat, cooler.

To reap all results, perform these routines every day: 1. Stretch out, back down, on floor with arms extended close to sides. Bend knees until soles rest on floor. Pull in abdomen and raise hips two inches from floor, so body weight rests entirely on shoulders. Now gently swing hips from side to side for ten counts. Then lower hips, rest and repeat. Alternating swings and rests, perform six times.

2. On back, legs out and together on floor, slide right hip upward toward ribs, pull back to starting position and slide left hip upward. Without stopping, repeat thirty times—very quickly.

The first exercise will trim your middle, the second your hips. But not if you just dream about doing them!

MIDRIFT SLIMMERS

To solve that riddle of extra inches around your middle, send today for my leaflet, Midriff Slimmers. It contains quick, easy reducing exercises for slimming diaphragm, waist and abdomen. Write me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES BERETS

Bride Carried White Rosebuds

Of interest to Victoria is the recent Washington wedding in Blaine Methodist Church of Miss Carolyn L. Kyle and Mr. Charles Berets.

Miss Kyle, daughter of Mr. Auburn Lee Kyle, former U.S. Immigration inspector here, and Mrs. Kyle, now residents of Blaine, attended Margaret Jenkins School and Victoria High School.

For her wedding, the pretty bride chose a classic gown of white satin brocade trimmed at the neckline and waist with pearls. Her finger-tip veil fell from a matching pearl crown and she carried white rosebuds, stephanotis and carnations.

Her attendants, Miss June Kellogg, Mrs. Kenneth McCullough, wore American beauty red sheaths and the Misses Jerri McNutt and Jerry Holman wore pink sheaths with red cummerbunds.

From Langford was the junior bridesmaid, Luanne Kuhnert dressed in red. Larry Kyle was ring bearer and best man was Gary Vanerstrom.

The couple who will live in Bellingham are planning to attend summer school at Western Washington College, of which they are both graduates.

Bornholdt-Calder

The Chapel of Saint Barbara, Work Point Barracks, was the scene of the recent wedding of Iris Marie Calder and Mr. Richard William Bornholdt, PPCL.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex L. Calder of Victoria, and the groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bornholdt, of Yellow Grass, Sask. Padre A. G. Reid officiated. A mauve flecked nylon ballerina-length gown with an off-the-shoulder neckline was worn by the bride. On her head was a pearl tiara. She carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds, and was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Irene Smith, cousin of the bride, was a matron-of-honor in an apricot taffeta gown. Miss Joyce Harman, bridesmaid, wore pink nylon. The groom, the best man, Mr. Norman Hemie, and usher Mr. Calvin Code, all wore blue army dress uniforms.

Dr. F. Mitchell, the bride's uncle, proposed the bridal toast at the reception.

What's Cooking?

By Louise Moore

Let's have a good pork dinner. There is plenty available and the price is right. Excellent buys include, ham, picnics, pork shoulder, tenderloins, spare-ribs, pork hocks, sausage, chops, not to mention the tender flavorful pork loin roast or a shoulder pocketed with a savory stuffing.

Pork not only is tasty, but tops nutritionally supplying high quality protein, essential to growth and health.

PORK CHOPS

When choosing pork chops you'll find the shoulder chops an economy buy. These are usually cut thin while the prized loin chops should be a generous half inch thick for really delicious eating.

To cook pork chops, trim off a little of the fat and use it for the frying. Use no other fat. When melted and hot, add the chops and brown slowly, then turn to brown the other side. This should take at least 8 to 10 minutes.

To keep them juicy, add 2 or 3 tbsp. water, cover and cook ever so slowly about 30 minutes. Don't add too much water, just enough to create moisture so that the steam tenderizes them. Just a tsp. or so for thin chops. They will cook in about 10 minutes. One-inch chops require 3 to 4 table-spoons.

Cook slowly on top of stove or in a moderate oven. When done—and pork must be well done—season to taste and arrange on hot platter. Make gravy with brown bits in frying pan.

Slow browning and then braising assures tender and tasty chops. Glazed fruit is delicious with pork chops, as is cranberry jelly or cranberry molds on crisp lettuce with a bouquet of parsley. Complete with creamy mashed potatoes, buttered broccoli or buttered new green cabbage, and an apple crisp or baked apple (which will help use up the surplus of apples before the season's fruits are in full swing.)

Father Gave Bride

Given in marriage by her father, the Rev. C. B. Price, who for several years was minister at St. David's-by-the-Sea, Cordova Bay, Miss Edith Nancy Price was a charming summer bride on July 18.

Her groom is Mr. John McKellar Cook, son of Professor C. C. Cook, director of studies at Royal Roads College and Mrs. Cook.

Canon Frederick Pike performed the ceremony at 8 p.m. in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay. Wearing a short, full-skirted silk organza gown with a veil of illusion net, Miss Price carried a sheaf of cream-colored roses.

Her only attendant and sister, Mrs. P. J. Bandy, of Vancouver, chose blue silk organza in a short-skirted bouffant gown and carried carnations.

Mr. William Bittner was best man and ushering the 120 guests to their seats were Mr. Michael Price and Mr. Lorne Glassford.

Parents Break Backs But Little Boy Happy

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—A Vancouver teacher and his wife are in a hospital near here with broken backs. But their four-year-old boy is having the time of his life.

After Jauvid N. Shemseddin, 37, and his wife were injured in the accident on Stevens Pass highway last Wednesday, two state patrolmen volunteered to take care of the boy.

He's staying with Officer Norman Burslem of Monroe, now, but Officer Bob Epling of Skykomish says it's his turn. He says they agreed each would keep the boy for two days.

The trouble is, says Sgt. Cliff Gowler of the patrol's Snohomish County Detachment, Burslem and his wife are having such a good time they don't want to give the boy up.

'Birdman of Alcatraz' Behind Bars 50 Years

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—After 17 years, the "Birdman of Alcatraz" has left the rock. Robert F. Stroud, 69, was transferred from the maximum security federal prison in San Francisco Bay to the federal medical centre at Springfield, Mo.

Stroud has known nothing but the inside of prison walls since 1939, when he was sentenced to 12 years for killing a Juneau, Alaska, bartender. He was sent to Leavenworth Penitentiary.

In 1916, at Leavenworth, he killed a guard in a dining hall. He was placed in solitary and remained in solitary for 16 years after his transfer in 1942 to Alcatraz.

He had a laboratory and 22 live birds at Leavenworth and became an authority on bird diseases.

Word of his transfer came from Stroud himself in a letter dated July 15 to Stanley A. Furman, a Beverly Hills attorney who had been working for Stroud's release.

Quick Divorce Sought By Billy Rose's Wife

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—Mrs. Billy Rose, 39, the former Joyce Matthews, was due in El Paso last night to spend the night in Juarez, Mexico, where she will seek a quick divorce from her showman husband today.

Mrs. Rose is expected to charge that she and her 60-year-old husband are incompatible. The couple has no children, but she has one child by one of two previous marriages to actor Milton Berle.

The divorce decree is expected to be issued Thursday. Her petition states that she and the Broadway producer have been separated since early this year.

Son Repentant But Dad Dies

CASPIAN, Mich. (UPI)—Eighteen-year-old George Adzima donated a pint of blood yesterday in a futile attempt to save the life of his father, whom he shot the night before.

George Adzima, Sr., 45, died at about 3.30 p.m. from a bullet wound in his stomach.

Police said the teen-ager fired a single shot from a .25 caliber rifle at his father during a family quarrel.

The youth repented immediately after the shooting and rushed to the nearby home of a priest to get him to administer the last rites to the critically wounded man. He returned home and surrendered to officers a short time later.

Sheriff's officers said they hadn't been able to learn what the quarrel was about. But they said the son had never been in trouble before.

Found Leak Before Atlas Flight

Skinny Man 'Hero'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—Had it not been for a slender young mechanic, there might have been a lengthy delay in the firing of the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile early yesterday.

Lanky Jack S. Adams, 28, volunteered to squeeze through a narrow opening in the missile to find a leak within the maze of rocket engines. The six-foot, 135-pound Adams stripped off most of his clothing and greased the upper part of his body to make passage easier in tight squeezes.

Without Adams' assistance in pinpointing the leak, workers might have been forced to partially disassemble the huge 100-ton range missile, causing lengthy delay in its test flight.

With fellow workers holding his legs, Adams threaded his lean body through narrow passages until he found the trouble spot.

He made the difficult trip three times, the last to guide workmen on the outside in observing the leak through a small access hole drilled at the base of the Atlas.

Adams was rewarded by his work at 12.20 a.m. yesterday when the silvery missile streaked away on a 5,000-mile test flight—first successful launching of the Atlas since Feb. 4.

B.C. Health Resources Hearing Here

VANCOUVER (CP)—The first of a series of public hearings in a survey of British Columbia's health needs and resources will be held in Victoria Aug. 12.

A full day's hearing will be held in Vancouver Aug. 14 and other hearings are set for Nanaimo Aug. 13, Nelson Aug. 18, Kelowna Aug. 19, Kamloops Aug. 20 and Prince George Aug. 21.

ENDS TONIGHT
"I Was Monty's Double"
Starring everyone's favorite John Mills, Cecil Parker and Clifton James. Filmed on location in Gibraltar, this story is fantastic, exciting and true. This is not a distasteful shooting war picture, but one that will leave you with such a proud and happy feeling. An acting gem—and especially appropriate due to the renewed interest in General Montgomery.

Cost as Well as Sociology Counts in Joint-Court Plan

Creation of a Greater Victoria family and juvenile court is as much a problem of finance as it is a problem of sociology, Saanich councillor Joseph Casey told a Victoria Council delegation this week.

Casey's statement was directed at a delegation to Saanich council from three community and welfare groups which favor establishment of such a court.

His remark drew instant rebuttal from the delegation's chief spokesman, Conway Parrott, president of the Greater Victoria Community Welfare Council, one of the three organizations, who replied that creating the court is "a matter of broken homes and juvenile delinquents."

Reeve Chatterton agreed that cost is a factor, saying: "In the absence of an answer as to the cost of such a court, the most that council could do is approve in principle."

Ultimately, on a motion by Coun. Casey, council moved to table the whole question of a Greater Victoria family and juvenile court until it has received an impending report from the attorney-general's department and another from its own welfare committee.

Earlier Coun. Casey asked the delegation "If this is such a good thing why do they only have it in 28 Canadian cities?"

The brief, submitted by the welfare council jointly with the Community Chest of Greater Victoria and the Family and Children's Service, points out probable economies to the four Greater Victoria municipalities if a unified family-juvenile court was in operation.

Statistics in the brief show that Victoria has the greatest proportionate number of resident delinquents — 7.7 per 1,000 of population, with Oak Bay second at 5.2, Saanich is third with 5.1 and Esquimalt last with 4.4. Provincial average is 5.1 delinquents per 1,000 of population.

The brief points out that the provincial government has the authority to establish such a court, but, as municipalities must foot the bill, is reluctant to create it without municipal consent.

Scouts of 51 Nations Bathless in Drought

MOUNT MAKILIN, The Philippines (AP)—Boy Scouts from 51 countries clamored for bath tubs today as a water shortage plagued the 19th World Scout Jamboree camp here for the fourth day.

"We have drinking water, all right," said a 17-year-old Greek scout, "but none of us has had a bath in four days."

Twenty fire trucks carrying water from the U.S. navy and villages surrounding Jamboree City alleviated a desperate situation Monday but that was a makeshift at best.

Officials say the shortage resulted because the hundreds of boys are using more than 30 gallons of water a day each in the tropical heat and heavy use of electric lines is slowing down pumps.

Diver, Driver Inquests Set

Inquest into the death of skindiver Dick Willoughby, 27, of 1837 Crescent, will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at McCall's funeral home. Deputy coroner Dr. John H. Moore will conduct the inquest.

Mr. Willoughby was killed in a freak accident at Sidney on Sunday, when he touched the galvanized cover of a 110-volt electrical cable while climbing onto a pier at Shoal Harbor.

Funeral services will be held at 1:15 p.m. Thursday at McCall's. Burial will follow in Hatley Memorial Gardens.

Surviving are his widow, Ruth, at home; parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Willoughby of Victoria; and one brother, Jack Arthur Willoughby, also of Victoria.

Leonard Kalk

Inquest into the traffic-related death of 22-year-old Leonard Bruce Kalk, 2537 Prior, will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at McCall's by the deputy coroner.

Botanists To Tour Island

A group of 40 botanists representing 16 countries will tour Vancouver Island starting Aug. 2.

The scientists, guests of UBC, are all delegates to the 9th International Botanical Congress which opens for the first time in Canada Aug. 15 in Montreal.

Dr. Adam Szczawinski, provincial botanist from Victoria, and Prof. T. M. C. Taylor of UBC will conduct the island tour.

Special trips for a limited number will be conducted by Dr. R. F. Scagel for the study of seaweeds along the south coast of the island between Victoria and Port Renfrew.

The group will also tour the interior of the province.

Only Island Art Shown At New Gallery Here

An art gallery restricted to the work of Vancouver Island artists and sculptors opened this week at 1106 Broad Street.

The Apollo Galleries is operated by four young Victoria artists, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Ian Fleming.

Mrs. Phillips said "all kinds of work will be represented, including many of the modern schools."

"We think it's a shame that local artists are forced to sell their work in the United States," she said. "There is some beautiful work here, and we think Victorians should have a chance to appreciate it."

"We realize, too, the public art gallery cannot hope to accommodate all the work done by local artists."

The gallery will charge no fee for exhibiting paintings but will take a percentage on the purchase price of those that are sold.

In addition to their own works, the artists will display paintings and sculpture by such well-known local artists as Bob Wood, Peggy Packard, Richard Cicimarra, Michael Morris and William West.

Woman Killed In CNR Crash

OAKVILLE, Ont. (UPI)—One woman was killed and 33 passengers injured when a CNR train jumped the tracks two miles west of here Tuesday.

About 300 passengers were aboard the Chicago-Toronto express. Many were saved from injury because the four derailed cars remained upright.

Please, Sir, Help Me Out, I've Learned My Lesson

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A letter written in pencil on ruled tablet paper from Patricia Vaughn of Akron, Ohio, to Rep. William Ayres (R., Ohio) opens this way:

"Dear Mr. Ayres, I am 8 years old and I am very sorry to trouble you."

Patricia plaintively writes that some time last May she checked out two books from the library — "The Happy Prince and Other Tales" and "Wicked John and The Devil."

Her puppy chewed the corners of the books.

"The librarians said I must pay $6.70 for the books. Daddy said I must work and pay for these books to teach me a lesson."

"I am getting 15 cents a day for washing breakfast dishes," mowed lawns and swept floors to earn, finally, $5. The library said the $5 wasn't enough but Patricia was told she couldn't have the books even if she paid the $6.70 because they were government property and "would be destroyed."

"Please, sir, is there something you could do that these books could be given to me. I worked so hard for them. I have learned my lesson to respect other people's property, and I will never forget it, as long as I live."

Out of U.S. Mothball Flotillas

Mercy Fleet Urged For Health, Relief

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Four members of congress Tuesday proposed legislation to set up a "great white fleet" of mercy ships and planes fitted out for health and relief work in underdeveloped areas of the world.

They offered resolutions in both the Senate and House calling on President Eisenhower to remove ships and planes from the vast U.S. "mothball" fleet to create the new force.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, one of the sponsors of the proposal, estimated a small mercy fleet "task group" of four or five ships could be operated for $5,000,000 to $7,500,000 a year, plus costs of medical and teaching personnel and supplies.

The mercy fleet, he said, could be "designed from the keel up to deal with disasters." It also could do public health and relief work in overseas areas, he said.

Last year's record of 1,400 entries in the annual Luxton Fair is expected to be broken this fall, officials said last night.

The fair will also feature an expanded parade, a symphonia, a baby contest, a 4-H day and, maybe, a visit by an elephant.

The fall fair will be held Aug. 28 and 29 in the Luxton Hall and grounds. The reigning fair queen, Jina Hall, who was elected last year, will crown the newly-elected queen Aug. 28 at 7 p.m.

Official opening of the fair will be Aug. 29 at 1:30 p.m. The program includes 13 sections for adult competition and a special section for children.

Red Plane Smooth To City Air Officer

OTTAWA (CP)—Squad Leader Gordon M. Ewan of Victoria and Blairmore, Alta., a navigator and staff officer at RCAF Headquarters, recently had a chance to examine Russia's huge new turbo-prop airplane, the TU-114, at first hand.

He flew from New York to Moscow aboard one to advise the Russian crew on navigation and flight procedures over Canadian territory and to assist in any emergency landing in Canada.

The air force quoted him as saying of the TU-114: "The interior is well appointed with comfortable seats for 150 people. There was very little noise and practically no vibration. On top of the cloud it was very smooth and conversation could be held in normal tones."

Record Number at Work As Recovery Spreads

OTTAWA (CP)—A record of 6,053,000 Canadians held jobs at mid-June, the bureau of statistics reported Tuesday, as unemployment fell sharply under the impetus of a "fairly widespread" recovery.

The bureau said its labor force survey found 234,000 persons without jobs and seeking work in the week ended June 20. This marked a drop in unemployment of 100,000 from mid-May and of 90,000 from a year earlier.

Those without jobs and seeking work made up 3.7 per cent of the labor force, compared with 5.2 per cent in June, 1958.

Meanwhile, the labor department issued another set of figures on the labor situation showing 320,927 unfilled job registrations on June 18 at National Employment Service offices across Canada. This was a drop of nearly 265,000 from 585,489 on May 14 and was some 205,000 lower than the 526,489 unfilled registrations in mid-June last year.

The government says these figures, however, do not represent absolute unemployment since an unknown number of registrations are from persons wanting to change jobs.

To Aid Training

Canada May Get Dummy Weapons Before Real Ones

WASHINGTON (CP)—Canada may get dummy atomic weapons before she gets the real ones.

The way now has been cleared in Congress for Canada to get hitherto secret American information and equipment to help in the training and use of nuclear weapons.

But while Canada will be able to get the electronics and machinery to shoot an atom bomb, say from a Bomarc missile or an aircraft, the United States will still maintain custody and control over all nuclear weapons moved into Canada.

TRAIN AND FIRE

How, then, will Canadian forces be able to train to fire the atomic weapon when the U.S. has these weapons under lock and key?

No trouble at all, says the U.S. defence department. Dummy bombs have been devised with the same electronic circuits as in the real weapons. "It is a dummy but it has internally the circuitry of a real bomb," says General Herbert Loper, assistant to defence secretary Neil McElroy. He gave evidence to this effect before the joint congressional committee on atomic energy.

These dummies not only can be used to test equipment to be used in firing atomic weapons but also in the training of men who will fire the weapons.

"It does not require training in the operation of the check-out equipment to have the actual bomb in your possession," says Gen. Loper.

He gave evidence before the committee studying new U.S. agreements to increase sharing of atomic secrets with friendly powers, including Canada and Britain.

"An artillery man does not need to know the formula for gunpowder or how to make it in order to use an artillery shell effectively," Gen. Loper continued.

SET A FUSE

"He does need to know how to set a fuse and how to load and fire a projectile as well as what it will do when it detonates."

He described proposed stockpiling of atomic weapons in Canada and other north Atlantic countries as "essentially ammunition depots under the full control of the United States."

Big Island Firm Slaps Closure On Forest Areas

Giant MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. yesterday slapped a travel and access closure on its forest properties in the face of a mounting forest fire threat.

The move will almost certainly be followed by a general forest service clampdown on at least some of the tinder-dry woods areas in the Vancouver forest district, including Vancouver Island, and in other parts of the province.

At the same time the company announced it was considering the purchase of four Second World War Mars flying boats to fight fires by bombing them with water from 7,000-gallon tanks.

GIANT PLANES

The company has an option with a San Francisco scrap metal firm to buy the giant planes. The option expires July 28.

If the estimated $1,000,000 deal goes through, the water bombers would be made available to the B.C. forest service on request, it was understood. They would be operated from Pat Bay.

Affected on Vancouver Island are properties in the Shawanigan Lake area, at Copper Canyon near Chemainus where firefighters are mopping up the big Mount Brenton blaze, Nanaimo River, Northwest Bay, Menzies Bay and the Beaufort Tree Farm near Courtenay.

E. G. Shorter, vice-president of production for the company, said the closure was decided on because high temperatures

60 Pythons In Tangle

SINGAPORE (UPI) — Between 60 and 100 pythons, each between 10 and 15 feet long, held a battle in the swampy area of Tampenis about seven miles from Singapore.

Police gunfire killed 60 of them.

Villagers feared the battle might bring them bad luck. They said another python fight occurred four years ago and that a week later the village was flooded with heavy losses of crops and poultry.

Some villagers thought the fight broke out because it was python mating season.

Coast Guard Cutter Ending Visit Today

U.S. Coast Guard cutter Taney sails at 10 a.m. following a two-day visit to HMC Dockyard, Esquimalt. Her skipper, Capt. Frank Helmer, said many of the 21 officers and 129 men aboard are reservists undergoing summer training. The ship will return to the Coast Guard base near San Francisco.

'Lover' Ban Tossed Out

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal judge Tuesday revoked Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield's postal ban on the unpurged version of "Lady Chatterley's Lover." He charged the action had violated the constitutional guarantees of freedom and speech.

Judge Frederick Vanpellet Bryan accused Summerfield of having been swayed by his own personal feelings and also of acting on the basis of isolated passages lifted from the book rather than on the entire novel.

Stop Babying Mothers, Says Doctor

'Birth Safer at Home'

MONTREAL (CP)—Expectant mothers would be better off if their doctors stopped babying them, Dr. Clement Smith of Boston's lying-in hospital said Tuesday.

"Furthermore, 80 per cent of the babies should be born at home rather than in the hospital," he said. "It's safer."

Dr. Smith was chairman of a panel discussion yesterday at the International Pediatrics Congress. He later appeared at a press conference.

Births at home are safer than in the hospital because hospitals are for the sick, he said. At home there were fewer people, especially sick people, and less chance of infection.

He said the problem of infection in the first two weeks after birth is a major one, with mortality rates in North

Fluoride Facts Chamber Aim

Victoria Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday declined to endorse water fluoridation but told its public affairs group to proceed with a campaign to place fluoridation facts before the public.

The public affairs group asked the directors to:

1. Endorse fluoridation of Greater Victoria water as a dental decay preventive measure.

2. Authorize a request to the four councils of Greater Victoria that fluoridation referendums be placed before the electors in December.

3. Authorize the public affairs group to launch a public information campaign on fluoridation "with a view to securing an affirmative vote when the referendum is held."

Chamber managing secretary John Coppinger said at the conclusion of a directors' meeting yesterday that the directorate had declined to endorse fluoridation "on the grounds that they are not doctors or dentists," and are not qualified to endorse it.

They also struck from the public information campaign request the words "with a view to securing an affirmative vote

Bolt Kills Four In Picnic Area

NEW YORK (AP)—Lightning struck in the picnic grounds of crowded Orchard Beach in the Bronx Sunday, killing three men and a woman. About six miles away, near the Bronx Zoo, another bolt of lightning injured four persons.

1,000 Kids Expected In Fishing Derby

More than 1,000 youngsters are expected to take part in the eighth annual Victoria parks playground fishing derby off the breakwater Friday.

Prizes donated by T. Eaton Co. will be competed for in "strictly kid fashion," according to city playground director Gordon Hartley.

A dozen trained supervisors will be on hand to see the young contestants don't get into trouble.

Those taking part are asked to be at the Dallas Road end of the breakwater 15 minutes before 1 p.m. starting time.

Prizes will be awarded at 4.30. Everyone who catches a fish will receive a prize, with six major awards in special categories.

Policeman's Son Good, Improving

Condition of David John Burdny, 3, son of city police constable John Burdny was described as "good and improving" last night by Royal Jubilee Hospital officials.

The boy received serious head injuries July 11 when he was struck by a car while playing in his front yard at 1248 Reynolds.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE BREAKS DOWN FAT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fat... actually breaks it down... it is an established medical fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fat is broken down and forms a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your body, precious liver bile helps break down fat the same way. Many foods reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down this fat... unblocks it... for easier and more complete digestion.

So when you feel sluggish, headache, nervous and need a laxative, get Curle's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Curle's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat.

'Pointing the Bone' Hex Defeated

ALICE SPRINGS, Australia (UPI)—White man's medicine finally has triumphed over black magic in the desolate northern territory of Australia, a physician said yesterday.

Dr. G. H. Tippet, a government medical officer, said he "cured" an aborigine who was about to die because an enemy hexed him by "pointing the bone" at him.

This is a common ritual among the nomadic stone-age

tribes. No one knows how or why it works. A witch doctor points a bone—usually a kangaroo bone—at a victim and mumbles a curse. The victim dies. Autopsies never disclose cause of death.

Physicians know the curse works. The victim believes the bone is passing through his body and reaches his heart to kill him. He lies down and dies, psychologically killing himself. Yet cases have been known where a native has died while a bone curse was being made against him unknowingly hundreds of miles away.

Tippet said he found a native at a bush settlement who was dying of the hex. The doctor told the native

he could cure him by surgically removing the bone. The native agreed.

Tippet said he simply chloroformed the native, but did nothing else. When the aborigine recovered consciousness, Tippet showed him a wet stone and said the stone had turned to rock and he had removed it.

The native leaped to his feet. "Blackfeller magic — him finish," he shouted and bounded off into the bush, whooping happily.

EDMONTON (CP)—Queen Elizabeth resumed her full royal visit schedule Tuesday, appearing fit, healthy and relaxed.

Her physician said she was fully recovered from an upset stomach that had cancelled out two days of her program in the north. Canadian reporters who saw the Queen and her husband begin the 45-day, cross-country tour in Newfoundland June 18, said she looked as well Tuesday as she did when she first arrived.

NO DEPARTURES
Esmond Butler, the Queen's press secretary, said no further departures from the scheduled program are anticipated.

Deadly Power Surges Along Telephone Wires

Lines Tangled By Falling Tree

No Contempt Court Finds

VANCOUVER (CP)—Contempt of court proceedings against the British Columbia Federation of Labor (CLC) and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) were dismissed Tuesday by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

Dealers Import Lumber

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lower mainland dealers are meeting the threat to supplies created by the strike of coast woodworkers by importing lumber from the United States and the interior of British Columbia.

They are paying $10 a thousand feet more for it than they would for coast timber because of freight costs.

STOCKS GONE
Dealers here say the stocks that were on hand when 27,000 members of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) went on strike three weeks ago were rapidly used up.

NO END-SEEN
Meanwhile, no end is in sight of the strike which was called to back up demands for wage increases. It is reported the union reduced its demands to 12 per cent over a base rate of $1.72 an hour. The employers have offered 12 cents an hour.

An injunction obtained Monday by Canadian Forests Products restricts pickets at its plant here to three.

Deas Tunnel In Darkness

VANCOUVER (CP)—A section of the $23,000,000 Deas Island Tunnel was plunged into darkness Tuesday night when the carriage of a dump truck hit the ceiling.

It was regarded as a miracle that more damage or injury did not occur.

As it was, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nixon lost their home, grocery store and post office at Appledale owing to Monday's freak accident. Appledale is 20 miles northwest of here.

TREE FELL
A tree fell across West Kootenay Power and Light Company power lines half a mile north of Vallican and sprawled them across B.C. Telephone Company wires, boosting the voltage on the phone lines to 6,900 volts.

Stoopnikoff's store on the Slocan Valley highway at Appledale caught fire but was saved by quick action when a neighbor spotted flames.

The Nixon property, covered by $8,500 insurance, was destroyed.

HEARD CRACKLING
Mrs. Nixon said she was up about 6 a.m. and heard a crackling sound from the telephone. On lifting the receiver she decided something was wrong. Going through the store and out the front door she saw an entire corner of the building where telephone lines entered in flames.

Mrs. Nixon rescued her four children and Frank, her 15-year-old son, dashed for a hose and doused the flames. However, fire then broke out in the attic.

AT WORK
All personal belongings, clothing and household effects, and the entire stock of the store and post office were lost. Mr. Nixon, an employee of West Kootenay Power was at work at the time.

The sudden increase in power burned fuses on telephone lines all the way to Nakusp and kept crew working until late at night repairing the damage. At Slocan City, equipment on a telephone pole caught fire.

ANDREI GROMYKO

Nikita Skips Spit in Face

WARSAW (UPI)—Nikita Khrushchev said last night he postponed his trip to Scandinavia because it would have "increased tension" and he only wants to go where "it is helpful."

West Threatens To Walk Out

GENEVA (AP)—The Western foreign ministers threatened Tuesday for the second successive day, walk out of the Big Four talks unless Russia quickly reduces its terms for a Berlin truce. But Andre A. Gromyko refused to budge.

Gromyko's exchanges with the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France at a 2½-hour secret session were sometimes bitter and angry.

The head-on clash left the Big Four conference in a state of almost unrelieved gloom and crisis.

U.S., British, French and Soviet delegation spokesmen all agreed that no progress had been made and that a breaking point could come next week.

But some gleams of hope remained. Ever-cautious U.S. and British officials expressed the view that Gromyko, on the orders of Premier Nikita Khrushchev, may yet cut his price for a Berlin deal.

The issue, for the third conference session in a row, centred on Gromyko's demand for bringing the two Germanys face to face to help chart a way toward reunification and a peace settlement.

The Western powers have rejected this and put forward their compromise. This would make the Big Four a continuing conference to negotiate on a German settlement. East and West Germany would sit in as advisers.

Fishing Offer Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—New offers will be made to workers in the fishing industry today in the hope of averting a complete shutdown of British Columbia's second biggest money-earner by strike action.

James Sinclair, president of the Fisheries Association of B.C., said a meeting has been arranged with representatives of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union for 2 p.m.

The union has threatened to call a strike Saturday to back up demands for higher prices for fishermen and higher wages for shore workers.

Mr. Sinclair said new offers on wages and prices will be made to shoreworkers, tendermen and fishermen.

Army Brigade Rebels Against Iraq Regime

CAIRO (Reuters)—An Iraqi army brigade was reported in rebellion Tuesday as Egyptian newspapers carried front-page stories of continued Communist violence in northern Iraq.

The brigade was reported to be refusing orders from the Iraqi high command two days after the government announced in Baghdad that the situation was under control.

Meanwhile, foreign delegations in Baghdad for anniversary celebrations of the country's revolution were trying to leave the capital as soon as possible because of rumors of impending Communist violence there, it was reported.

The Egyptian government-sponsored Middle East News Agency said armed bands of Communists were roaming Baghdad districts at night and attacking citizens.

The Egyptian press described the situation in Iraq as "grave" and said the revolt is part of a Communist plot to spread chaos throughout the country.

Violence in the northern oil town of Kirkuk flared a week ago as Iraq marked the first anniversary of the anti-monarchist revolution which installed Gen. Abdul Karim Kassem as premier.

Mooney Pledges Fight To Block New City Hall

Proposal Today By IWA?

The IWA strike policy committee held meetings in Vancouver yesterday and it was expected a new proposal may be submitted to the lumber companies.

But an IWA spokesman said the "situation has reached a stage where no sudden settlement may be expected."

He said the IWA "is always open to new offers, but there has been nothing to move on at all."

Chamber Chooses Officers

New senior officers of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce named at a directors' meeting yesterday were W. Allan Pendray, left, president, and Justin V. Harbord, vice-president. Mr. Pendray will succeed Conway Parrott, when new officers take office sometime in September.

Too Costly, He Says And It's Not Right Time

By R. O. MARRION

A determined fight against the city accepting a Vancouver firm's offer to build it a new city hall was pledged yesterday by Ald. M. H. Mooney.

He will oppose building a new city hall at this time, he said, and if one is to be built, he will oppose building it on anything but a competitive basis, with Victoria contractors given an opportunity to submit tenders.

The Vancouver firm, Dominion Construction Co. Ltd., was authorized by the mayor and city manager in the spring to prepare a city hall plan and proposal without obligation on the city's part.

After more than two months' secret work in consultation with Roderick Clack, architect and head of the city's planning and inspection division, it presented to city council July

10 a plan for an eight-storey, $1,800,000 city hall on Blanshard between Courtney and Burdett.

The company offered to lease the building to the city for 30 years at about $130,000 a year with the right to buy it after 17 years for 70 per cent of its original cost, or after 20 years for 60 per cent, or after 22 years for 50 per cent.

In addition, the city would pay for furnishing, interior partitioning, and land other than three lots acquired by the company. Initial city hall requirements would permit two floors to be sub-let to the school board and two for private offices.

Alternative Financing Plans

City Manager C. C. Wyatt presented council with alternative financing plans ranging from borrowing $2,000,000 over 20 years, at a total cost of $3,488,000, to paying nothing for 14 years and then paying $6,521,000 in principal and interest in the next 16 years.

Ald. Mooney was critical yesterday of the company being authorized to prepare the plan and Mr. Clack being authorized to work on it without council's knowledge.

But he reserved his major fire for the plan itself.

First the city should consider whether it wanted a new city hall, he said; second the best location should be considered, and third, if a new city hall was to be built, "there can be no strings attached. If we do build, it's got to be on a fair competitive basis."

Ald. Mooney questioned the advisability of going ahead now with a new hall, and suggested that remodeling the present hall inside and perhaps extending it would be much cheaper, and satisfactory.

'Rush In and Regret It'

In any event, he said, the city had never rushed into anything without regretting it, and this was "not the right time—some of the people have had great increases in taxes this year and it's been a burden to them and I can't see adding to the tax levy. And I can't see $2,000,000, that's going to amount to $4,000,000 for the privilege of working in a nicer building."

He suggested that the best way to finance a new city hall was to plan five years ahead for it, maintaining the city's pay-as-you-go policy and setting aside land-sale revenue and perhaps $100,000 a year in taxes.

The alderman was not alone yesterday in his concern about Victoria companies having a chance to compete if a new hall is to be built.

Victoria Building Industries Exchange wrote to city council asking for details of the city hall proposal "for study," and Donald Smith, VBIE president, said some of the general contractors in Victoria were wondering about the terms and the opportunities for competition.

Ald. Mooney may be absent from a council meeting Thursday, he said, but is expressing his views in a letter to council.

Courtenay Aug. 18

Busy Day Slated For B.C. Cabinet

COURTENAY — Plans for the Aug. 18 visit of the provincial cabinet here show an active day for the provincial executive body, according to the tentative schedule released by MLA Dan Campbell, co-ordinator of the day-long visit.

First cabinet session at the city hall will take place at 10:30 a.m. and will be followed by a Rotary-sponsored luncheon at noon.

Afternoon sessions of the cabinet, at which organizations and individuals will present briefs to the ministers, will reconvene at 2 p.m. and it won't be until 4 p.m. that the group will be invited to partake of some of this area's famous fishing if they so desire.

An evening banquet, sponsored by the Courtenay-Comox Chamber of Commerce will climax a day of activities which will doubtless leave the government department heads tired and happy to be back at their respective homes in preparation for more of the same the following day.

Speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon will be either Mines Minister W. K. Kiernan or Lands and Forests Minister R. G. Williston, whose topic, according to Mr. Campbell, will be "Development in Northern B.C."

Civic officials, headed by

Big Waterworks Project Planned by Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI — Council is taking steps to get a major waterworks project underway without floating a bond issue.

At a special meeting, Ald. Norman Odgers, finance chairman, introduced a bylaw to transfer $65,000 from the land sale trust account to the water works. With $26,000 already in the waterworks bank account it is proposed to buy material for connecting Bainbridge Lake to the present water system.

Ald. J. R. Dalton, chairman of the fire, light and water committee, pointed out that most of the work can be done by the city's water crew.

Profits from the waterworks system in the current year should be sufficient to offset the labor which will be used in addition to the city crew, he said.

Bainbridge Lake was acquired by the city as part of a proposed $300,000 project which is being undertaken in several phases.

Need for action on the plan recommended by Associated Engineering Services Ltd. has been emphasized by the present water shortage, Ald. Dalton said. Sprinkling restrictions have been imposed, although mill closures due to the woodworkers' strike have reduced the demand for water.

The transfer of funds from the land sale account requires the sanction of the minister of municipal affairs.

PORT ALBERNI — Edmund David Neale, engineer, has been elected by acclamation as Port Alberni representative on the school board of District 70.

Mr. Neale who lives at 114 Anderson Avenue South was the only candidate for the seat left vacant with the resignation from the board of Alderman Douglas Mallory.

Four of the veterans from Salt Spring Island were among the spectators who saw the Queen and Prince Philip at Duncan. They were guests of the Duncan branch of the Legion.

Four of the veterans from Fulford were Captain L. B. D. Drummond, who had quite a conversation with the Queen, A. Davis, who has recently received another clasp to his Queen's Medal, Edwin Moore, and William McLean.

These veterans, with a number of others from Salt Spring, were royally treated by the Legion at Duncan, and were given a luncheon at the Silver Bridge Hotel.

Others News Page 26

DUNCAN — Rotary Club members failed to come to an agreement recently on whether to approve a "satellite" transmitter here, to be operated by a Victoria radio station.

An appeal for backing by CKDA, which proposes a $25,000 operation, was referred to the board of directors after 10 minutes of discussion by members.

Record Crowd

TOFINO — A record crowd attended the annual Tofino sports day at Subbs Island, with visitors from Ucluelet, Port Alberni, Kennedy Lake, Long Beach and other points in attendance.

West Coast Indians from villages on the island took part in water sports, canoe races, loggers' sports.

The gathering was presided over by Queen Joyce Mayade of Ucluelet, who will preside over community affairs of Tofino-Ucluelet until the 1960 elections.

Lord Bishop

DUNCAN — Rev. M. H. Harland, Lord Bishop of Durham, will preach at the evening service Sunday at St. John's Anglican Church and attend a reception in the hall after the service.

He is visiting the province as part of the centenary of the B.C. diocese.

ALBERNI — Roy Innes was elected chairman of Cherry Creek recreation commission at a meeting in the district's community hall.

Vice-chairman is Mary Haggard; Mark Mosher, secretary; Earl Bruner, treasurer. Jim Woodside, Allan McKinnon, George Shambrock and Eva Thomas, committee members, with a vacancy to be filled from membership of the teen-age group.

During the meeting it was decided to ask the provincial government to set aside land for a future playground.

D. B. MacDonald Heads Moose

DUNCAN — D. B. MacDonald of Vancouver was installed here recently as president of the B.C. Moose Association at their 12th annual conference.

Executive members are C. R. Morrison, Vancouver, secretary; F. Norman Salt, Vancouver, vice-president of District One; Robert Hodges, Victoria, vice-president of District Two; James McCrindle, Vancouver, past president. Delegates will hold the 1960 convention at Penticton.

COURTENAY — Increasing warmth and decreasing humidity threatens to result in forest closure of northern Vancouver Island within days.

Forest Ranger M. Antonelli, of the Courtenay Ranger Station, confirmed the danger and emphasized the need for extreme caution by campers and berry-pickers, now swarming into the woods as bright sun ripens wild fruits in the woods.

Only occurrence over the weekend which the local Ranger Station was called to deal with, was one at a beach near Comox's Goose Spit.

Open House

DUNCAN — Exhibition board members have suggested Agriculture Minister Newton Steacy be asked to attend an "open house" early next month at the site of the new exhibition grounds.

They will suggest to the planning board that the ceremony be held from 3 to 5 p.m. on Aug. 8 or 15 "if possible."

The public would be invited to see the administration building that is nearing completion. By then construction of four cattle barns will have been started.

The new grounds are west of Pioneer Park.

Boat Found

DUNCAN — A 12-foot-clinker-built boat with an inboard motor was found floating loose in Somers Lake Sunday, police said yesterday. It can be claimed from Fred Mills, Roome Road, the finder.

UCLUELET — Four Ucluelet youngsters are in Victoria attending a two-weeks, July 20 to 31 inclusive, recreational leadership course.

The four, Ellen Kimota, Bonnie Batchelor, Verne Snow and Michael Mead Miller are accompanied by Mrs. William Saxton, public health nurse for this area.

Lectures include flowercraft, coppercraft and ceramics and the two boys will attend lectures on sports and square dancing.

NANAIMO — The Mayor of Nanaimo, has expressed his sympathy for the Queen's fatigue from the tour.

But he expressed pleasure that Nanaimo's relaxed atmosphere gave the royal couple an opportunity to stay longer than their schedule called for.

City Angler Drowns At Ladore Falls Dam

Skin divers were scheduled to continue working in 90 feet of water near Ladore Falls dam on Lower Campbell Lake today seeking the body of 37-year-old John Puhach, Victoria, drowned there yesterday.

The Victoria man, who resided at 1120 Bewdley Avenue, tumbled backwards off a boomstick while fishing yesterday and disappeared in deep water.

Several anglers were standing nearby and heard the splash, but none saw him fall. The drowning victim was proprietor of the Half Way House beer parlor at 836 Esquimalt Road.

He had gone fishing up Island with his wife, Mary, and eight-year-old daughter, Patricia, and Mrs. Puhach's parents.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police said he was the farthest out on a boomstick from which several men were fishing.

"Apparently he just lost his balance," an RCMP official at Campbell River stated.

NEVER REAPPEARED — Witnesses said the man's body never reappeared on the surface.

Skin divers and an inhalator crew were rushed to the scene without avail. Police said the divers were working at a depth of about 90 feet and were only able to stay on the bottom for about 12 minutes at a time. Diving

Drowning Probe Set At Duncan

DUNCAN — An inquiry will be held "within a few days" by Coroner Dr. J. S. Goodbrand into the drowning death Monday of Mrs. Sores Sklamerud, 54, in Quamichan Lake.

She was pulled from the lake about 5:30 p.m., an hour after she left her husband "for a short dip" in the lake near their rented cottage on the property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bayard V. Dunkley, Stamps Road.

Mrs. Sklamerud, a "good" swimmer, was found six feet from shore by her husband. She had a bruise on her head.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. from the First funeral home with Rev. W. E. Greenhalgh officiating.

Burial will be in Mountain View cemetery, Somers. Surviving are her husband, Bernhard; three sons, William, Feru, Melvin; Vancouver; Harold, Prince Rupert; three daughters, Mrs. J. Pollock, Rossland; Mrs. R. Greiner, Edmonton; and Mrs. H. Stadnyk, Victoria.

Royal Pen Stolen

NANAIMO — A souvenir hunter has stolen the "pen with which Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip signed a special municipal guest book at Nanaimo's Grandview Bowl on July 16.

Alderman Halg Burns, in charge of royal tour arrangements at Nanaimo, said the guest book is intact but the pen with which the royal couple signed is missing.

In Stratford Today

Ladysmith Youth Attends Festival

LADYSMITH — Barry Lloyd Bourque, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Bourque, of Ladysmith, one of the 200 fortunate young persons chosen from across Canada to travel on the Canada Council train to the Stratford Festival, was due there today.

He is an outstanding student of drama with a fine record of experience already to his credit.

The party will leave Stratford at 9:40 p.m. Friday.

Ladysmith's representative is a member of the Yellow Point Drama Group, and was elected for this honor award mainly on the work he has done under Miss Anne Mossman, director of the group, under whom he has studied for five years.

He has just completed Grade XII at Ladysmith High School, and intends to train for school teaching; but plans to definitely continue in drama in some form.

A major role in the school opera "The Red Mill" is one of his favorites. He won his first speech award in 1954, and has won awards at the various mid-island festivals. He had an important role in the Yellow Point Drama Group play which won the mid-island Festival, and won the B.C. drama finals at Vernon, B.C.

Big Island Firm Slaps Closure On Forest Areas

Giant MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. yesterday slapped a travel and access closure on its forest properties in the face of a mounting forest fire threat.

The move will almost certainly be followed by a general forest service clampdown on at least some of the tinder-dry woods areas in the Vancouver forest district, including Vancouver Island, and in other parts of the province.

At the same time the company announced it was considering the purchase of four Second World War Mars flying boats to fight fires by bombing them with water from 7,000-gallon tanks.

GIANT PLANES

The company has an option with a San Francisco scrap metal firm to buy the giant planes. The option expires July 29.

If the estimated $1,000,000 deal goes through, the water bombers would be made available to the B.C. forest service on request, it was understood. They would be operated from Pat Bay.

The closure against fishermen, berry pickers and others normally given access to M. & B. property starts today.

Affected on Vancouver Island are properties in the Shwagh Lake area, at Copper Canyon near Chemainus where firefighters are mopping up the big Mount Brenton blaze, Nanaimo River, Northwest Bay, Menzies Bay and the Beaufort Tree Farm near Courtenay.

MORE CRITICAL
The MacMillan & Bloedel spokesman said the strike of 27,000 coast woodworkers "makes the problem of keeping the woods safe from fire more critical than ever."

Officials of the International Woodworkers of America union, to which the strikers belong, have given assurance the men would be available to fight any fires that break out.

Members have already pitched in to battle earlier blazes within the past week.

The company spokesman said M. & B. would open its property to the public if conditions changed for the better, "but the change would have to be a decided one. Only heavy rainfall with lower temperatures could reduce the hazard sufficiently."

HIGH TEMPERATURES
E. G. Shorter, vice-president of production for the company, said the closure was decided on because high temperatures and low humidities in recent weeks have created "tinder-dry" woods conditions.

"It appears as though the period of serious fire hazard has finally arrived this year," he said.

Forest service officials, growing increasingly nervous after three rainless weeks in southern B.C., said yesterday the long-range forecast was for much hotter than average weather for another month.

Central and northern parts of the province will have it a little cooler.

"HOUR BY HOUR"
Spokesmen said they were keeping "an hour by hour" watch on conditions, but no immediate forest closures were announced up to late Tuesday.

There was some slight improvement in humidity over night, Monday, they said, and more was being expected last night.

Five new forest fires were reported yesterday at Cowichan, Courtenay and Langford on Vancouver Island, and at Squamish and Sechelt on the Mainland, but all were extinguished quickly.

SPRINKLING RESTRICTED
At Maple Bay — Increased use of water here during the hot spell has caused North Cowichan municipal officials to start sprinkling regulations.

On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday sprinkling is allowed from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. west of Chisholm Trail.

During the same hours, sprinkling is allowed on Monday, Wednesday and Friday east of Chisholm Trail and south of George Bay Road.

No sprinkling is allowed Sunday.

Coast Guard Cutter Ending Visit Today
U.S. Coast Guard cutter Taney sails at 10 a.m. following a two-day visit to HMC Dockyard, Esquimalt. Her skipper, Capt. Frank Helmer, said many of the 21 officers and 129 men aboard are reservists undergoing summer training. The ship will return to the Coast Guard base near San Francisco.

Brief to Ask Approval For New Hospital, Annex.

DUNCAN—A brief asking for approval to build a 135-bed hospital near here and a 30-bed annex at Lake Cowichan will probably be presented to the provincial government in two weeks.

Decision came at a meeting Monday night of the hospital authorities here, North Cowichan, Cowichan Lake, and the hospital district south of here.

"A preliminary brief was agreed upon," said Coun. D. C. Morton, North Cowichan, who was authorized to give a press release yesterday after the closed meeting.

"Certain statistics have to be added to point out the annex will not raise hospital costs in the area," he said.

Only minor surgery and cases will be stationed and handled at the annex, he said.

Bolt Kills Four In Picnic Area

NEW YORK (AP)—Lightning struck in the picnic grounds of crowded Orchard Beach in the Bronx Sunday, killing three men and a woman. About six miles away, near the Bronx Zoo, another bolt of lightning injured four persons.

'Best Dogs in B.C.' Coming To Cowichan Fair Trials

DUNCAN—A rarely-seen display of sheep dog trials will be one of the attractions at the Cowichan Class B Exhibition in September. The exhibition board decided Monday to hold the event on the afternoon of the fair's last day.

From six to eight of the "best dogs in B.C." are expected to compete.

The fair will be held Sept. 11 and 12 this year.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE BREAKS DOWN FAT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fat... actually breaks it down. It is an established medical fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fat is broken down and forms a smooth, easy-flowing mass.

In your body, previous liver bile helps "break down" the same way. Many foods reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down this fat... unblocks it... for easier and more complete digestion.

Currier's Little Liver Pills exclusive formula of natural, vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat in your body.

So when you feel sluggish, bloating, nervous and need a laxative, get Currier's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Currier's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat.

'Pointing the Bone' Hex Defeated

ALICE SPRINGS, Australia (UPI)—White man's medicine finally has triumphed over black magic in the desolate northern territory of Australia, a physician said yesterday.

Dr. G. H. Tippet, a government medical officer, said he "cured" an aborigine who was about to die because an enemy hexed him by "pointing the bone" at him.

This is a common ritual among the nomadic stone-age

tribes. No one knows how or why it works. A witch doctor points a bone—usually a kangaroo bone—at a victim and mumbles a curse. The victim dies. Autopsies never disclose cause of death.

Physicians know the curse works. The victim believes the bone is passing through his body and reaches his heart to kill him. He lies down and dies, psychologically killing himself. Yet cases have been known where a native has died while a bone curse was being made against him unknowingly hundreds of miles away.

Tippet said he found a native at a bush settlement who was dying of the hex. The doctor told the native

he could cure him by surgically removing the bone. The native agreed.

Tippet said he simply chloroformed the native, but did nothing else. When the aborigine recovered consciousness, Tippet showed him a wet stone and said the bone had turned to rock and he had removed it.

Death Missed In 'Miracle'

NELSON (CP)—Two stores caught fire and one burned to the ground here as power surged wildly up the Slokan Valley on telephone lines.

It was regarded as a miracle that more damage or injury did not occur.

No Contempt Court Finds

VANCOUVER (CP)—Contempt of court proceedings against the British Columbia Federation of Labor (CLC) and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) were dismissed Tuesday by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

Dealers Import Lumber

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lower mainland dealers are meeting the threat to supplies created by the strike of coast woodworkers by importing lumber from the United States and the interior of British Columbia.

They are paying $10 a thousand feet more for it than they would for coast timber because of freight costs.

STOCKS GONE

Dealers here say the stocks that were on hand when 27,000 members of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) went on strike three weeks ago were rapidly used up.

NO END SEEN

Meanwhile, no end is in sight of the strike which was called to back up demands for wage increases. It is reported the union reduced its demands to 12 per cent over a base rate of $1.72 an hour. The employers have offered 12 cents an hour.

An injunction obtained Monday by Canadian Forests Products restricts pickets at its plant here to three.

Deas Tunnel In Darkness

VANCOUVER (CP)—A section of the $23,000,000 Deas Island Tunnel was plunged into darkness Tuesday night when the carriage of a dump truck hit the ceiling.

The tunnel, under the south arm of the Fraser River, was blocked off to northbound traffic for about 10 minutes while electricians repaired the lights.

Nikita Skips Spit in Face

WARSAW (UPI)—Nikita Khrushchev said last night he postponed his trip to Scandinavia because it would have "increased tension" and he only wants to go where "it is helpful."

"I may go there later," the Soviet premier said during a reception at the Soviet Embassy. "I think well of the Swedes." But he denounced "the government newspaper" in Stockholm.

"If they spit in my face, a guest, why should I go?" Khrushchev said.

Big Four Talks

West Threatens To Walk Out

GENEVA (AP)—The Western foreign ministers threatened Tuesday for the second successive day to walk out of the Big Four talks unless Russia quickly reduces its terms for a Berlin truce. But Andrei A. Gromyko refused to budge.

Gromyko's exchanges with the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France at a 2½-hour secret session were sometimes bitter and angry.

The head-on clash left the Big Four conference in a state of almost unrelieved gloom and crisis.

U.S., British, French and Soviet delegation spokesmen all agreed that no progress had been made and that a breaking-point could come next week.

But some gleams of hope remained. Ever-cautious U.S. and British officials expressed the view that Gromyko, on the orders of Premier Nikita Khrushchev, may yet cut his price for a Berlin deal.

The issue, for the third conference session in a row, centred on Gromyko's demand for bringing the two Germanys face to face to help chart a way toward reunification and a peace settlement.

The Western powers have rejected this and put forward their compromise. This would make the Big Four a continuing conference to negotiate on a German settlement. East and West Germany would sit in as advisers.

Fishing Offer Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—New offers will be made to workers in the fishing industry today in the hope of averting a complete shutdown of British Columbia's second biggest money-earner by strike action.

James Sinclair, president of the Fishermen's Association of B.C., said a meeting has been arranged with representatives of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union for 2 p.m.

The union has threatened to call a strike Saturday to back up demands for higher prices for fishermen and higher wages for shore workers.

Mr. Sinclair said new offers on wages and prices will be made to shoreworkers, tendermen and fishermen.

Royal Pen Stolen

NANAIMO — A souvenir hunter has stolen the pen with which Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip signed a special municipal guest book at Nanaimo's Grandview Bowl on July 18.

Alderman Haig Burns, in charge of royal tour arrangements at Nanaimo, said the guest book is intact but the pen with which the royal couple signed is missing.

EDMONTON (CP)—Queen Elizabeth resumed her full royal visit schedule Tuesday, appearing fit, healthy and relaxed.

Her physician said she was fully recovered from an upset stomach that had cancelled out two days of her program in the north.

Canadian reporters who saw the Queen and her husband begin the 45-day, cross-country tour in Newfoundland June 18, said she looked as well Tuesday as she did when she first arrived.

NO DEPARTURES

Edmond Butler, the Queen's press secretary, said no further departures from the scheduled program are anticipated.

The full five-hour schedule in Edmonton was carried out as planned before mid-afternoon departure by train for a whistle-stopping swing by train through Saskatchewan.

Mr. Butler denied reports in the British press that Prince Philip had advised his wife to cancel the Canadian tour and return home.

Army Brigade Rebels Against Iraq Regime

CAIRO (Reuters) — An Iraqi army brigade was reported in rebellion Tuesday as Egyptian newspapers carried front-page stories of continued Communist violence in northern Iraq.

The brigade was reported to be refusing orders from the Iraqi high command two days after the government announced in Baghdad that the situation was under control.

Meanwhile, foreign delegations in Baghdad for anniversary celebrations of the country's revolution were trying to leave the capital as soon as possible because of rumors of impending Communist violence there, it was reported.

The Egyptian government-sponsored Middle East News Agency said armed bands of Communists were roaming Baghdad districts at night and attacking citizens.

The Egyptian press described the situation in Iraq as "grave" and said the revolt is part of a Communist plot to spread chaos throughout the country.

Violence in the northern oil town of Kirkuk flared a week ago as Iraq marked the first anniversary of the anti-monarchist revolution which installed Gen. Abdul Karim Kassem as premier.

The death toll has been estimated by various sources at anywhere from 20 to 1,000 persons. An official communiqué from the Kassem regime said only that there had been "many deaths."
